Councilman Davis Makes Motion Establishing a Local Traffic System

PERMISSION to operate a cross-city bus line was given to the Pacific Electric Railway Company by the City Council last night, with the understanding that the system be in operation in sixty days or less.

The permit is for a period of one year and the routes are subject to change upon agreement between the railway company and the city authorities. The action was taken with very little discussion, mainly for the reason that there was not much to discuss—for the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company and the Long Beach concern seeking the permit withdrew their applications before last night's session.

The motion giving the permit to the Pacific Electric was made by Councilman Sam Davis and follows:

Text of Motion

"I move that the Pacific Electric Railway Company be granted a permit to operate a bus system through the streets of the city of Glendale for a period of one year from this date in conformity with its map and application on file with the city clerk, subject to such minor alterations as may be agreed upon from time to time by the City Council and the Pacific Electric Railway Company; the permit to be substituted in place of the permit authorizing the company's present system; the permit being granted subject to the provisions of Ordinance No. 461 entitled "an ordinance regulating and licensing the business of carrying passengers for hire in motor vehicles in the city of Glendale," and, further, that the permit be granted on condition that the company begin the operation of its new system not later than sixty (60) days from date."

Others Withdraw

The motion prevailed unanimously. Councilman Davis stated that the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company and the Long Beach concern had withdrawn from the "contest" for the permit, "and so there's nothing to discuss and no other action to take if we want transportation."

Councilman Asa Hall announced that an understanding had been reached with the Pacific Electric to the effect that the company is willing to bring busses from Pasadena for immediate service, especially in the northwest section, provided the people to be served are willing to "put up" with old cars. It was explained by the company that within sixty days the old busses will be replaced with new ones.

At the suggestion of Councilman W. A. Horn, the question of immediate service in the northwest with old busses was passed to improvement clubs in that territory for decision.

Good Service Expected

Councilman C. E. Kimlin declared that, in his opinion, the Pacific Electric is in a position to give a good cross-city service and that the transportation problem has been solved by the granting of the permit.

On August 10, The Glendale Evening News published the proposed routes and other details of the contemplated bus line and it

D. R. Salisbury's Parents Get One Word Cable 'Safe'

Sailsbury of 1136 North Central avenue broke the strain of anxiety they have been under fearing for the safety of their son, D. R. Salisbury, the administration manager of the American Allied Machine company's foreign office in Tokio, Japan.

Mr. Salisbury's wife and baby arrived in the United States several weeks ago and are visiting relatives in St. Paul, Minn. After their departure from Tokio Mr. Salisbury went to live at the United Club, and his parents don't know just where he was at the time of the earthquake and fire.

They are now anxiously awaiting a letter from their son telling of the details of the disaster.

That's to Be Expected When Miles Standish Courts Miss Los Angeles

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

WAY DOWN EAST in Maine, a 'covered wagon' has started on the long trek to the west coast, with Los Angeles as one of its goals and bearing prominent representatives of the Pine Tree state within its expansive roof, according to advices received from Glendale residents who formerly lived in "Old Dirigo," as their native state is affectionately dubbed.

This particular covered wagon, which set out from Portland, Me., September 2, bound for Portland, Ore., bears 125 leading men and women of the state and will arrive at its destination in something like a week—from which it is gathered that times have changed.

Times Have Changed

Not one of those picturesque horse-drawn, ballooning canvas-covered affairs that added a touch of unforgettable color to the western plains, but a long steel special of observation cars, compartment Pullmans and diners will carry the big delegation over their 8000-mile run.

The purpose of the pilgrimage will be not colonization of the west, but of the east. How times have changed!

James Q. Gulnac, president of the Maine State Chamber of Commerce, and his 124 comrades, are bringing to the west a message from the east, calling attention to the industrial opportunities of Maine, in manufacture of paper, of cotton and woolen goods and other products, telling of the vast water power to be developed there for the turning of mighty wheels.

Recent Picture Shows How Flames Ravaged Tokio!

Central Press Association photo of a recent conflagration in Japan's capital just destroyed by quake and fire

In the greatest catastrophe of the world's history, Tokio, capital of Japan; Yokohama, its principal port, and scores of other cities, towns and villages were destroyed when earthquake, followed by fires and tidal waves, struck the island of Hondo, largest of the Japanese group. Tokio and Yokohama were destroyed.

GRECIAN-ITALIAN WAR IS AVERTED

Allied Ambassadors Reach Terms Acceptable to Both Nations

PARIS, Sept. 7.—It was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon that the inter-allied council of ambassadors has succeeded in drawing up a settlement which is acceptable to both Italy and Greece, averting war in Southern Europe. The details will be communicated to the League of Nations at Geneva.

More Troops in Corfu

ATHENS, Sept. 7.—One thousand additional troops have been landed at Corfu, said a dispatch from that city today. The town has been closed except for communication with the outside world under military censorship.

Greece has started an independent inquiry into the assassination of General Tellini and four other Italians, which was responsible for the Italian-Greek dispute. It is understood the investigators have learned the names of several Albanians who will be held directly responsible for the murders.

A proclamation has been issued offering 1,000,000 drachmas for the murderers.

Corfu is quiet except for the unimportant incidents connected with the Italian search for arms.

Scout Italy's Threat

GENEVA, Sept. 7.—The League of Nations today marked time on the Italian-Greek dispute, evidently hoping that the inter-allied council of ambassadors at Paris would work out a solution which would avert a break between Italy and the league. Delegates attending the league meeting said they would co-operate with the ambassadors to preserve peace in Southern Europe.

Italy's threat to withdraw from the League of Nations, taking with her some South American countries, is not regarded seriously.

Ehmke Gets No-Hit, No-Run Game Today

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—Howard Ehmke, formerly of Glendale, Calif., now star pitcher with the Boston Red Sox, earned new fame this afternoon when he twirled a no-hit, no-run game against the Philadelphia Athletics. Ehmke's feat was the second of its kind in the major leagues this year, Sam Jones, the Yankee pitcher, pitching a ho-hit, no-run game against Philadelphia earlier in the week.

Japan Declares 30-Day Moratorium; Supplies Are Distributed by U. S.

OSAKA, Sept. 7.—Japan today declared a thirty day moratorium in the zones ravaged by earthquake, typhoon, fire and tidal waves. An edict has been issued against profiteering. Partial communication has been restored between Tokio and the diplomatic posts in the outside world.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—Waiving all formalities and proceeding under the blanket instructions issued by Secretary of the Navy Denby to rush relief supplies into Japan, Admiral A. E. Anderson, commanding American naval forces in Asiatic waters, has ordered the purchase of large quantities of food, medical stores and building materials for use in the Tokio area, the navy department announced today.

To speed up the distribution, Admiral Anderson issued definite orders for the work of purchase and shipping to be rushed through out the day and night. United States shipping board vessels are to be used to transport supplies from Chinese and other Asiatic ports to Tokio and Yokohama. Everything is to be paid for from naval appropriations, under Secretary Denby's instructions.

Gives List Of Needs

As evidence of the efforts being taken to assemble supplies for the relief work, the navy made public a dispatch from Admiral Anderson to the naval purchasing office at Shanghai. It follows:

"Following supplies are urgently needed in the earthquake area in Japan: Non-perishable provisions, such as beans, flour, rice, tea, sugar, salt and water; medical and surgical supplies, cotton gauze bandages, invalids' foods and blankets, miscellaneous stores and mosquito and flynetting, bedding, mats, picks, shovels, tools, lumber, hardware and coffins, also need limited amount of cold storage meats, butter, eggs, oranges and fruits.

"Make the purchase of these supplies under your naval appropriations. Their distribution by the commander-in-chief has been authorized by the secretary of the navy."

Legion Squad Works At Lot Cleaning Job

Legionnaires will fall in for a working party this afternoon at 5 o'clock on its property on the northeast corner of Campbell and Stocker streets, according to orders of the day issued by Commander Chalmer D. Day. The detail will be commanded by Capt. James H. Wittmeyer of 437 West Broadway, one of the most active members of the local post. Tools will be provided and workers will be furnished with chow. The Legion holds an important meeting tonight.

PLEADS FOR AID IN RELIEF WORK

Glendale's Quota for Japan Coming in Slowly, Is Chairman's Report

Co-operation of all local organizations with the Glendale chapter of the American Red Cross in Japanese relief work is asked by Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the chapter.

A total of $445 toward the quota of $3432 set for this city was reported this noon by Mrs. Bartlett. While this is a good start toward the desired total, Glendalians will have to respond much more freely if the quota is to be met, she feels.

The huge sum of $5,000,000 has been set by the Red Cross as the national donation of mercy to our stricken neighbor in the "Land of the Cherry Blossoms," and Glendale is counted upon by the local chapter to rise equally to the occasion wih other cities of the United States.

$2,000,000 Already Raised

An International News dispatch received from Washington, D. C., states that well over $2,000,000 has already been raised according to national headquarters of the American Red Cross.

Had Glendale raised two-fifths of her $3432 quota, she would now have $1372 on her list, instead of $445 reported by Mrs. Bartlett this noon.

Representatives of the local Red Cross chapter have been stationed in all banks of this city, where it is urged that donations be made. The following are among those who already, in the name of mercy, have reached out

JUDGE LOWE HITS NEW MOTOR LAW

Teeth Taken From Act, Says Official; In Favor of Drastic Measures

The new California motor act, which went into effect the first of this month, was bitterly denounced by Judge F. H. Lowe this morning in a statement at the opening of the municipal court. About sixty-five alleged violators were in attendance, but most of them had been arrested before the new law went into effect

"The new law places a premium upon the destruction of life!" he exclaimed, upon taking the bench. "For seven years, while I have been on the bench handling a great many thousands of cases," asserted Judge Lowe, "it has been my policy to keep my fines down and to appeal to the motorists' sense of right—trying to impress them with the theory hat human life is paramount to their particular convenience in the operation of motor vehicles My efforts along these lines have been a signal failure. The violations have increased to an alarming extent.

"Hereafter I propose to do everything that I possibly can to make the highways in this city safe for all people who are using them. If drastic measures are necessary, I will apply them.

"I have just gotten a synopsis of the new California vehicle act. I feel that it is taking the teeth out of the law. I feel that it is going to encourage 'rapid driving,' not only in this community, but all over the state af California."

The difficulty of securing convictions was emphasized by Judge Lowe, who called attention to the fact that motorists, who are accustomed to speeding are equipping heir machines with rear-vision mirrors. Since speed traps have been abolished by the new law, speeding motorists, in the opinion of Judge Lowe, have an opportunity to reduce their speed before a motorcycle officer can balance himself and obtain accurate evidence.

"Already the police officers of the city of Glendale are confronted with a condition that proves my statement," he continued. 'In one or two cases they have been ridiculed."

SEARCH FOR DOCTOR

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 7.—Fearing that Dr. Paul Bresee, prominent local physician, who is reported missing in the mountains eighty miles north of Mojave near the Kern river, may have been bitten by rattlesnakes, today caused friends here to renew their search for him.

DUKE N. PARRY VIVIDLY TELLS OWN EYEWITNESS ACCOUNT OF DISASTER

International News Staff Correspondent Goes Through Flames From Capital to Yokohama for First Hand News

The following graphic description of the Japanese catastrophe, the first to reach the United States from an American accredited correspondent, was written by Duke N. Parry, manager of the International News Service in the Far East, with headquarters formerly at Tokio. It is written by a man who lived through the suffering and with blistered feet and racked body, journeyed through the destroyed area. Mr. Parry writes in clear, running sequences, the story of Japan's misfortune.

By DUKE N. PARRY
International News Service Manager of the Far East

KOBE, Sept. 4.—(Delayed)—The beautiful cities of Tokio and Yokohama are today a blackened waste. Both cities resemble Belgium after the invasion of the German army.

DUKE E. PARRY

An inferno is everywhere. American, British and other foreigners at Yokohama vainly search the sea line for launches to carry them to ships in the harbor which will take them to their homes.

Thousands of the refugees who have been unable to leave the stricken city are facing starvation or worse—death by thirst. There is no food available and the water mains are broken. There are a few wells—but these are polluted.

Dead fill the streets of Japan's greatest seaport. Hundreds of panic stricken Japanese who endavored to swim away to safety, in Tokio, were drowned in the Sumida river. Their bodies have been returned to the shores they left by the incoming tides. Every building in the devastated area has its toll of charred remains. Relief work is virtually impossible. Earthquakes continue, making relief administration a secondary consideration. To try to escape from the tremors and toppling walls of structures that were is the only thought in the minds of those who have been in the greatest of all disasters.

The major portion of modern Japan has virtually ceased to txist, due to the severe earth tremors of Saturday and Sunday and the fires which are raging unmolested.

Old Tokio has given up her temples and museums, together with her beautiful Imperial theatre, universities, and skyline emulating that of the greatest American metropolis, where American architects and contractors had recently completed Japan's first skyscrapers.

Epidemics Of Cholera and Dysentery Ravage Survivors

A report has reached here today that, because of the scarcity of food and water in Yokohama, an epidemic of cholera and dysentery has broken out.

More than 100,000 deaths occurred in Yokohama, Yokosuka naval base, Kamakura and scores of villages along the old Tokaido railroad.

The nation's capital has been moved to Kyoto. This city was formerly Japan's capital city from 784 A. D. to 1868.

Dozens of foreigners were buried in the wreckage of the famous Grant hotel which faced beautiful Yokohama harbor. Many others met their death in the United Club building.

There are conflicting reports as to the number actually killed in Tokio as a result of the first gigantic upheaval. Most of the Americans are yet unaccounted for.

Advices received from Hakone, a beautiful summer resort at the base of Mount Fuji, say that the Fujiya hotel is gone, and that the entire Hakone district has been wiped out. This section of Japan at this time of the year is usually visited by great numbers of Americans and Europeans. The number of dead here cannot be estimated.

Death Toll Mounts to Half Million, Is Belief

It is generally believed that the total deaths from the cataclysm will be more than half a million.

Relief ships are coming into Yikohama harbor hourly.

The first refugees including the International News Service staff correspondent, were taken to Kobe Monday. The trans-Pacific liners President Jefferson, a United States shipping board vessel, and the Empress of Australia, of the Canadian Pacific line, are quartering more than a thousand refugees. The Korea Maru is caring for two thousand homeless.

The property loss will mount to the billions and business men have been thrown into a panic. W. L. Farnham, a survivor, and representative of the National City Bank of New York, is a refugee on board the steamship Steel Navigator at Yokohama. He told this correspondent that this was the greatest catastrophe of the age.

Miraculous Escape Of Los Angeles Man Pitched Through Skylight

Many Americans and British who were residing outside of Tokio and Yokohama have received emergency calls to come immediately to Yokohama in an attempt to relieve the suffering of their nationals.

The imperial family were uninjured. The prince regent is safe. Martial law has been proclaimed in the stricken area. The cabinet is in constant session.

Many persons had narrow escapes, but the most miraculous thus far recorded is that of Chester Purington Dryer of Los Angeles, Cal. Dryer was standing in the smoking room of the Yokohama United Club when the first great upheaval came. He was raised up with the floor of the structure clear through the skylight and fell outside the building escaping bodily harm. He was one of the very few who survived when the club building toppled over.

Home Wedding

Dr. B. Dudley Snudden, formerly pastor of the First Methodist church of Glendale, but now pastor of the First Methodist church of South Pasadena, officiated last night, Thursday September 6, 1923, at the marriage of Miss Ruth Morton, daughter of Mrs. Louise M. Morton of 412 North Isabel street, to Hugh B. Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Freeman of 417 West Doran street.

The ceremony took place at the Morton home at 8 o'clock with sixty relatives and friends present for the reading of the service and the informal reception following.

A unique scheme of decoration was planned by Miss Morton in arranging her home for the wedding. Dahlias and asters in shades of pink and white were used profusely in the living room with ferns and potted palms, and with these a large American flag and as flower holders several large shells Mr. Freeman brought home with him from overseas.

In the dining room the large, one layer bridal cake, artistically iced with a heart and orange blossom design, and surrounded by a wreath of fern, occupied the center of the table.

Just before the hour announced for the ceremony Miss Fern Bixler of Huntington park, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Hinckley of Hollywood, sang "I Love You Truly" (Bond) and "At Dawning" (Cadman). The Lohengrin Bridal Chorus was played by Miss Hinckley at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Freeman and his best man, Arthur Benton of Pasadena, entered the living room and met Dr. Snudden, and awaited the entrance of the bride and her two maids, Miss Vesta Morrow and Miss Eleanor Brice of Glendale. Miss Morrow wore pink taffeta, and Miss Brice blue satin. They carried arm bouquets of pink and white sweet peas and maidenhair fern.

Miss Morton's bridal dress was a becoming creation of white Canton crepe, made in drape effect with pearl embroidery. Instead of a veil she wore a bandeau of rhinestones. Her bouquet was a shower of bride's roses, lilies of the valley and maidenhair fern.

Mrs. Morton wore a dress of blue Canton crepe and silver lace. For the reception after the ceremony she was assisted by Mrs. Frederick Burt and Mrs. Joseph Fortunato of Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman left for a short trip to the mountains, and upon their return will be at home to their friends after October 1 at 616 West Alexander street.

Both young people are well known in Glendale, Mr. Freeman being a member of the First Baptist church, and Mrs. Freeman a member of the First Methodist church.

Mr. Freeman came with his family to Glendale fourteen years ago. During the world war he enlisted and went overseas with the 117th Engineers of the Rainbow division. He saw two years of service and an interesting feature of the wedding was that he and Mr. Benton, who served as best man, were together in France Mr. Freeman is in his senior year at the California Institute of Technology and will complete his work next year.

Mrs. Freeman and her family have lived in Glendale several years, three of which she attended a private school in Los Angeles.

Brown, became the bride of Monte K. Beggs. Both young people are residents of Idaho and will return there to make their future home.

The Feris home was artistically decorated for the wedding with a profusion of flowers and greenery.

Dr. Lydia Parmele played the wedding march at 8 o'clock, the time of the service.

Elder R. W. Parmele, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church, officiated at the wedding, which was attended by sixteen relatives and friends.

After congratulations refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Beggs will enjoy a motor trip about California and after returning to Glendale for a short visit will leave September 16 for Idaho.

Mrs. John W. Cotton, who has moved recently to a delightful home at 1202 East Colorado street was hostess at luncheon yesterday to the members of the aid society of the Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church, an organization of which she is president. The affair was also in the nature of a house warming, and a mid-summer meeting of the members, many of whom have returned recently from vacation trips.

Twenty-two were served at the luncheon at 1 o'clock, and a short business meeting was held in the afternoon, with Mrs. Cotton in the chair.

Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. J. C. Lennox. Minutes of two previous meetings were read by Mrs. Robt. D. Jones, recording secretary.

FRASER TO HEAD MARCH OF SCIOTS

Police Chief to Twirl Drum Major's Baton in Parade Along Boulevard

When the parade of the members of the various Sciot Pyramids starts down Brand boulevard from Lexington avenue tonight at 7:30 o'clock, Glendalians who will be massed on the sidewalks will see Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, in a new role, specially created for him for this occasion. Colonel Fraser will be juggling the big, silver-mounted, cord-wrapped baton that the drum major of the band twirls so spectacularly, and his hours of quiet practice are said to have made him perfect in the art.

The parade will march down Brand to Colorado, turn north again and march back to the hall at 331 North Brand, where the business session and initiation will be held, to be followed by an elaborate entertainment that will mark the admission of at least 150 new candidates into the order, this number to include several candidates from outside Pyramids who will take advantage of the initiation of the big class into Glendale Pyramid No. 39.

Stunts in Parade

H. M. Bennett, 331 North Brand, will act as general chairman of the entire proceedings, and the boys of the De Molay will have charge of the lighting effects that will be a feature of the parade, flashing colored lights on the marchers in a bewildering series of prismatic combinations. The parade will also be featured by many varied stunts that will impress the candidates with a lively anticipation of what lies ahead of them, but no advance information as to these stunts can be pried out of the members of the committee.

Several of the supreme lodge officers from San Francisco will be here for the ceremonies, and the parade is expected to number between 700 and 800 marchers.

Order of Parade

The following will be the order of the parade: Glendale police, Parade Marshal A. E. Sullivan, Glendale band of thirty pieces, supreme officers, Glendale officers and Pyramid, raw meat, Los Angeles band of fifty pieces, Los Angeles officers and Pyramid, Santa Ana officers and Pyramid, Santa Barbara officers and Pyramid, San Bernardino officers and Pyramid, San Diego officers and Pyramid, devils in costume, Ventura officers and Pyramid, Bakersfield officers and Pyramid, Taft officers and Pyramid, Imperial officers and Pyramid.

Clean Up of Auto Camps Ordered by City Council As Public Safety Measure

STRICT regulations for auto camp grounds are provided for in an ordinance introduced at the meeting of the City Council last night by Councilman W. A. Horn. City officials declared that the present ordinance is not drastic enough and that certain camp grounds are, in their opinion, a menace to public health and safety.

Also, during the council session last night, Attorney Bert P. Woodard, representing the civics committee of the Chamber of Commerce, informed the councilmen the civics committee had conducted an inquiry into the camp ground situation and was anxious for a "clean up."

Regulations Necessary

"We are determined to do that very thing," was the comment of Councilman C. E. Kimlin, acting as mayor in the absence of Mayor Spencer Robinson.

Members of the council have completed an investigation of the camp grounds, making personal visits, it was announced last night, and they stated new regulations are absolutely necessary from a health and safety standpoint.

Following are, in brief, some of the provisions in the ordinance presented by Councilman Horn and which, it is believed, will be given further consideration by the council next Thursday night:

Text of Provisions

The term 'automobile camp ground' is hereby defined to mean any place, premises or grounds where persons traveling in automobiles are permitted to camp.

No person, firm, or corporation, agent or employe shall keep, conduct, maintain, carry on any automobile camp ground in the city of Glendale unless a permit has been obtained from the City Council. Any person desiring to conduct an automobile camp ground shall file with the council a written application for a permit in which the following matter shall be set forth:

The full name and address of the applicant; the kinds of business in which the applicant has been engaged for the preceeding five years; the names and addresses of at least four residents of the state of California, at least one of whom must be a resident of the city of Glendale, who are acquainted with the applicant.

Whether any person other than the applicant is to be in charge of the camp ground and, if so, the same information.

Must Present Plans

A plan of the premises on which such automobile camp ground is to be conducted, showing the manner in which said camp is proposed to be laid out and constructed.

The nature of applicant's interest in said premises. If the applicant is not the owner of said premises whether the consent of the owner thereof has been obtained.

The area in square feet. The maximum number of automobiles for which storage space accommodations are to be provided. The maximum number of persons who will be permitted to camp. What facilities will be provided for the use of persons camping including a statement as to water, gas, electricity, telephone, bath rooms and toilets.

On receiving such application the council shall cause an investigation of the premises to be made by the health officer and a report made by him as to the suitability of said premises for an automobile camp ground and the sufficiency of the sanitary facilities; and shall cause an investigation and report to be made by the chief of police as to the character of the applicant and of any person named as proposed custodian.

The council shall grant such application if, in its judgment, the premises described are suitable for an automobile camp groud and are provided with sufficient sanitary facilities and the applicant and any other person, who is to act as custodian, are of good moral character.

May Revoke Permits

Any permit granted uner this ordinance may be revoked by the council after a hearing on at least five days' notice to the holder, for any violation of this ordinance or for any want of good moral character on the part of the proprietor or any custodian or on account of any failure to provide the same with sufficient sanitary appliances or for failure to keep the camp ground in a sanitary condition, or for any disorderly, indecent or immoral conduct or any disturbance of the peace which occurs therein

There shall be a custodian in charge of every automobile camp ground at all times. It shall be the duty of said custodian to see that all provisions of this ordinance are complied with.

Every person camping or lodging at said camp shall, on arrival, register his or her full name and permanent address and the make and license number of automobile in which he or she is traveling and the total number of persons composing the party, together with a statement of the relationship, if any, of the members of the party.

Shall Report to Police

The custodian of every automobile camp ground shall each day file with the chief of police a report. He shall also report forthwith any breaches of the peace occurring at said automobile camp ground and the arrival thereat of any person whom he may have reason to suspect of having committed any public offense.

Every automobile camp ground shall be laid out and constructed in an orderly and uniform manner according to the following plan:

The entire camp grounds shall be so graded that all surface water will immediately drain off, and the entire camp grounds shall be kept oiled so as to prevent the accumulation of dust.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Victims Given Treatment at Hospitals Before Being Sent to Homes

Simultaneous automobile collisions occurred about 7:15 last night in two different local street intersections in which two persons were slightly injured.

Mrs. E. R. Bjarklund of 1245 East Wilson avenue was taken to the Glendale Research hospital with bruises, but was able to go home shortly afterwards. The automobile in which she was riding with her husband, E. R. Bjarklund, collided with a machine driven by H. Nitta of 1239 North San Fernando road.

F. Torgan of Los Angeles was crossing from the east to the west side of Brand boulevard just south of Broadway. He was knocked down by a machine driven north on Brand boulevard by R. W. Green of 120 East Colorado street who was preparing to turn west on Broadway.

SOUTH GLENDALE BOOM PREDICTED

Wilson & Burton Banking on San Fernando Region to Show Profits

Properties on San Fernando road, Los Feliz road, South Brand boulevard and East Colorado street are all "sure money" this fall, if bought before the sharp advances that will take place when the tourists arrive, according to Wilson & Burton, realtors, Central avenue at South San Fernando road.

"Here in the heart of a thriving community is an industrial center teeming with activity, 25,000 cars a day passing through Glendale over San Fernando road and as many more over Los Feliz road," states L. H. Wilson, whose office is at 1034 South San Fernando road.

Boom Is Predicted

"Buy ahead of the South Brand boulevard and East Colorado street building boom, and reap the reward," says W. T. Burton, whose office is at 200½ West Broadway. "Think what boulevard the Pasadena tourists will drive over when we get our new S. P. depot, making them four miles nearer to Glendale than to Los Angeles."

Mr. Wilson and Mr. Burton, both prominent local realtors, recently joined forces the better to handle their overlapping interests. While conducting the firm's business through their Glendale office at Central and South San Fernando, each maintains his private office and business, conducting it as heretofore.

TOWN OF SHELBY NOW FLAT BROKE

Dempsey-Gibbons Fiasco Leaves Montana Town In Awful Shape

SHELBY, Mont., Sept. 7.—Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" has nothing on Shelby as it is today, two months after the staging here on July 4 of the Jack Dempsey-Tommy Gibbons world championship bout. Shelby is simply back where it was six months ago, when some town "wags" proposed putting Shelby on the map by holding a title bout in the town.

Since July 4 the town's two banks have closed their doors, ten mercantile houses have failed, most of the saloons and gambling houses are closed, and the orchestras in the dozen dance halls are silent.

"The Green Life," "The Paris," "The Days of '49," "Black Cat" and other amusement places, including half a dozen roadhouses, are deserted; heavy boards are nailed over the windows, and "closed" signs hang over the doors.

Still Many Floaters

Shelby still has an excess population, however. Scores of men and women, who invaded the town to make themselves rich with concessions at the big fight, are here because they haven't enough money to get out of town. The much-heralded title bout proved a "bloomer," so far as attractng a crowd, and concessionaires found themselves with thousands of dollars' worth of fight souvenirs on their hands July 5. They are remaining here, hoping to obtain enough money from outside friends for railway fare to the East and to the Pacific Coast, where they formerly resided.

Residents of Shelby are not one whit discouraged by present conditions, they say. To the north the oil fields were unaffected by the Independence Day fiasco, and during July and August a large number of new wells have been brought into production in various sections of the oil country.

Still Optimistic

"Old-timers" in the town are content, they assert, to wait for Shelby natural development through the oil business. At present, on account of the gasoline price war and the subsequent reduction in the price of crude oil, development work in the fields here is being held up, but with a change in conditions much improvement in business is expected.

The town is now without a bank, and there is not a bank in the entire county. A petition has been circulated here asking the state superintendent of banks to issue a permit to transfer the nearby Dunkirk State bank, in an adjoining county, to Shelby. No action has been taken on the request by the bank superintendent.

MAYOR DAUBS UP CITY LANDSCAPE

Greeting Signs From Every Vacant Space Shriek "Welcome to Cleveland"

CLEVELAND, Sept. 7.—"Welcome to Cleveland.—Fred Kohler, Mayor."

This pithy parable, lettered in bold black upon a background of brilliant orange, blares forth its greeting to everyone who enters the city.

Kohler's caustic color campaign is rapidly transforming the fifth city into the semblance of a futurist's dream. Every municipal waste paper box, park bench and safety zone sign now glows under a fresh coat of the famous orange and black combination which replaces the former unobtrusive, orthodox green.

An unlimited amount of "poking fun" in the daily newspapers leaves the erratic mayor unabashed as he continues to "wield a wicked paint brush." See-saws and high slides on city playgrounds, bath houses and even the life guards on municipal benches—all have undergone the brightening up process.

"Swatted In the Eye"

Conservative citizens who were wont to spend the warm summer evenings basking in the sylvan beauty and quietude of their favorite neighborhood park are aghast at the blatant metamorphosis which literally "swats one in the eye."

A spot of orange showing through the foliage of one of the tall old trees in Edgewater park, famed as one of the prettiest spots in Cleveland, revealed upon close inspection that even the bird houses have not escaped the swath of Mayor Kohler's brush.

Essequibo river is the longest in Guiana.

WHERE GREAT CATASTROPHE STRUCK

Practically the entire southern half of the island of Hondo, largest of the Japanese group, including Tokio and Yokohama, was laid waste by the earthquake and fire which blotted out more than 100,000 lives and wiped scores of cities, towns and villages from the map. From Yokohama and Tokio to Osaka, as shown on the map, the devastation was complete.

PEKING, Sept. 7.—The entire geography of the east coast of Japan has been changed as a result of the terrible disaster which engulfed that nation last Saturday and the ensuing days, according to reports reaching here today.

Gigantic tidal waves and powerful convulsions of the sea bottom have played havoc with the sea coast of eastern Japan, the reports state, and the tide water contour for hundreds of miles gives the impression of a new island risen from the ocean.

Many islands off the Japanese mainland are reported to have disappeared and scores of coast towns have been washed to eternity by destructive tidal wave disturbances and similar terrific backwash phenomena of the sea.

In the earthquake zone of Japan 216 heavy shocks are said to have been felt within the twenty-four hours following the horrible first vibration that brought hundreds of thousands of buildings to the ground with appalling loss of life.

Nearly all of the numerous bridges of Tokio are reported to have collapsed, carrying to swollen streams below tens of thousands of people who were on the structures at the time of the devastating first shock.

Town Derives Income From Bootleg Arrests

HURLEY, Wis., Sept. 7.—Prohibition has meant more to this community than numerous parched throats and increased demand for copper kettles.

Since the enactment of the Volstead law the town has enjoyed a comfortable income from traffickers in illicit booze, records show. Arrests for violation of the prohibition law average ten daily and the fines paid average approximately $300 a month.

Hurley boasts a population of less than 4000.

ST. LOUIS GIRL WINS

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 7.—White flannel knickers, a dimpling smile, a mass of chestnut brown hair and a roller chair of white cloth and red roses won the first of the "national beauty titles" for Miss Charlotte Nash, St. Louis entrant, in the beauty pageant here.

IMPROVEMENT OF HIGHWAYS, TOPIC

Supervisor Wright Meets With La Crescentans to Talk Over New Plans

The business of the meeting of La Crescenta Improvement association was not held in regular order last night as Supervisor H. W. Wright was present to talk on road improvements the county can and would make in the future.

Mr. Wright spoke of the wonderful climate we enjoy here, which surpasses that of Pasadena which is supposed to be especially good. That alone, he said, would bring people here, apart from the beautiful surroundings ,and of the more people the better the roads must be.

The franchise of the Glendale, Montrose Railway requested for the lengthening of the line out west to Pennsylvania and beyond, is up, and is being advertised. Supervisor Wright stated the deeds for this right of way were not guaranteed, but filed on the records in Los Angeles county court house. The relation this bears to the 90 foot boulevards on Montrose avenue means the railroad will have the center 30 feet, leaving a road for paving of 30 feet on either side.

Fulfils Promise

The county is now fulfilling the promise made in the spring to pave Ocean View from Honolulu down into Sparr Heights. This will cut off the corner turning at Montrose. It is hoped the new gas tax will bring increased revenue and also reduce the taxes which are 8 cents less up here this year than last. This revenue will help take care of the roads. However, as an offset the school taxes will be higher as the school board sets the taxes, and of necessity these increase as the attendance demands larger buildings and more teachers.

The widening of Michigan boulevard was discussed, and the association went on record in favor of a 90 foot street at least, the paving on this busy highway at present being only 15 feet. It was suggested by Mr. Wright that it would be better at present to add 12 foot elbows to this 15 foot strip, till such time as the state could handle the question.

No more forty foot streets, however, will be accepted by the county in the future and the new subdivisions put on along Michigan avenue will have to grant twelve feet to the highway and while it will not at present be used, yet it will save moving back business buildings in the future, when the road is widened.

May Bar Sanatoriums

The question of private sanatoriums in the residence districts was brought up, as there are a number of such institutions up here.

Mr. Wright stated the only recourse the property owners had in this case was to form a committee to protest to the board of supervisors who then would declare districts for these institutions. The county attorney, however went on record last week stating this was not legal, but until proven otherwise property owners could probably get the districts outlined till a test case would be brought to court to prove that property owners cannot force the sanatoriums from their present locations.

Mr. Haskins read the treasurer's report, as follows: Balance on August 31, 1923, $101.64. One check of $14.81 is still out. which will leave a balance on hand of $86.83. The list of donations so far given for the fire fund benefit was read and to date out of 700 property owners only forty-two have responded with checks amounting to $6.50.

Mr. Culberson, president of the association, stated the committee had sent letters to the 700 property owners, feeling sure they would realize the good work Mr. Young had accomplished in prompt response to fire alarms and that they would willingly give $1 or $2 to a fund to recompense the fire chief for the time lost in his garage work. This loss has been quite a serious one, as he has lost some of his customers by reason of leaving their work to protect the homes of the valley.

Dance to Raise Funds

Dr. Nettelton then suggested a dance be given so as to raise funds to pay Chief Young at least $75 a month for the past six months, and continue this amount till further notice.

Mr. Young has put out 24 conflagrations in 17 days and received nothing for his arduous work. The dance will be held in the school auditorium on the evening of Sept. 22, two weeks from Saturday of this week. The tickets will be 75 cents each, $1.50 for a couple and it is to be hoped a large attendance will be on hand.

Dr. Nettleton was made chairman of the ticket committee and with 10 assistants of his choosing will endeavor to sell enough tickets to take care of the fire fund. The Verdugo Record will print the tickets gratis, as their share toward the fund for the chief has responded to calls from Tujunga at different times.

Mr. Culberson stated that on account of the delay in opening the branch school in Montrose, all pupils of the district would be required to enroll in the La Crescenta school on Monday, September 17, to be at school promptly. It is expected the school addition and the Montrose school will be finished by October 1. Till then desks will be placed in the auditorium at the school house to accommodate the extra pupils. A vote taken and passed decided a letter of thanks from the association be written to Supervisor Wright of the fifth district for the good work he has put through on behalf of this community.

FAVOR SET-BACK ON CENTRAL AVE.

Property Owners Ask Ruling From City Council on Improvement Plans

The City Council was last night given assurances that property owners will carry through the program to eventually widen Central avenue ten feet on each side from West Broadway to San Fernando Road.

The question of whether the improvement would be carried out was raised by W. F. Tower, who is erecting a building on Central. He declared he is in favor of the setback of ten feet, but before he worked further on his building he wanted some assurance that the plans would be carried out.

"I am informed by some that the ten foot setback will be made effective, by others that four feet will be the line and by some people that no change will be made at all. What's the program?"

Others in the audience also asked for like information, saying they are prepared to build stores on Central.

Co-operation Promised

After a conference among themselves, the councilmen, through Councilman C. E. Kimlin, stated that the resolution for the ten-foot setback is now being prepared and it may be presented next week. After it is finally passed, protestants have thirty days in which to file protests.

Lloyd Wilson declared that he will be hit the heaviest by the ten-foot setback, but announced he is strong for the improvement and predicted that there would be very few protestants. Others in the audience also assured the council the great majority of Central property owners are for the setback.

STATION AGENT SLAIN

Jail No Place For Honeymoon, She Sobs

CLEVELAND, Ohio., Sept. 7.—A solitary picture of woe after the fourth day of her honeymoon, Mrs. Kathleen Paul, 18-year-old bride, tearfully declared that "the county jail was no place to spend a honeymoon!"

Mrs. Paul's honeymoon abruptly hit a snag when, after she had declared she was 21 at the marriage bureau and married Joseph Paul, 19, in the face of parental opposition, she was placed under arrest on a charge of perjury, at her father's instigation.

Meanwhile the youthful Joseph scurried around to raise the $500 bail to liberate his bride, pending grand jury action on the charge.

The whole trouble arose from the law passed by the last session of the state legislature and recently put into effect, which requires a prospective bride to be 21, or have the consent of her parents.

Collie Dog Rescues Boy on Runaway Mule

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Sept. 7. — "Old Shep" a large collie dog, belonging to Francis Madden, of Excelsior Springs, Junction, became the uncrowned king of this city when he saved the life of Madden's nephew, Harold.

The boy was visiting his uncle on the latter's farm and, like all 16-year-old boys, had a desire to ride.

His uncle allowed him to ride one of the mules in after the day's plowing was finished and Harold started off, with Shep at a trot beside him.

But Missouri mules are Missouri mules, and the one Harold was riding was no exception. Perhaps it was frightened or perhaps it was the born perversity of the breed, but the animal started lunging.

Leaping upward, Shep grabbed the bridle between his teeth and held on until the mule became quiet and help came to release the boy, who had become caught upon the harness hames.

Young Madden was taken to a local hospital, where his injuries were treated and Shep was taken home to receive the best dinner he ever ate and the admiring and envious glances of common Excelsior Springs "houn's".

Cryptic Trip Warning To Motor Speeder

MEDINA, Ohio, Sept. 7.—"Go like hell. There is plenty of room in the cemetery." This is the wording of a blackboard sign erected by some unknown person on the curve at Brunswick Circle, where Policeman Frank Hoffman of Cleveland, was fatally injured.

PASADENA, Sept. 7.—Open defiance of the new state motor vehicle act and tart criticism of the Auto Club of Southern California came today from City Manager C. W. Koiner of Pasadena, when he announced that this city intends to go on using speed traps and is ready to carry its stand to the supreme court.

BUS ROUTES ARE GIVEN IN DETAIL

Pacific Electric Official Is Present at Council's Consideration

was stated at last night's meeting no change has been made. However, it was also stated that there probably will be minor changes as the system goes into effect and it is found necessary to make new routings.

The Pacific Electric proposes to operate on three routes, as follows:

List of Routes

No. 1—From Broadway south on Pacific avenue and San Fernando road to Cypress street, to Glendale avenue, to Palmer avenue, to Adams St., to Broadway, to Verdugo road, to Maple street, to Glendale avenue. The route is then retraced to its starting point.

No. 2—From Alameda street on Kenneth road to Pacific avenue, to Doran St., to Columbus avenue, to Myrtle street, to Central avenue, to California avenue, to Brand boulevard, to Broadway, to Verdugo road.

No. 3—From San Fernando road on Doran street to Chester street, to Salem street, to Columbus avenue, to Wilson avenue, to Central avenue, to Broadway, to Jackson street, to Doran street, to Isabel street, to Lexington drive, to Jackson street, and then back over the same route.

Thirty-Minute Schedule

The application of the Pacific Electric also provides that service will consist of a thirty-minute schedule on all routes with a promise of operating additional service as necessary. The school children's fare would be half of the regular fare through the purchase of forty tickets at a time.

Local fares in Glendale generally will be 6 cents. Ten tickets will be sold for 50 cents. These will be interchangeable and will be good for any time without limit. They will be accepted on local street cars

The 6-cent fare limit or the 5-cent fare limit on route No. 2, the Pacific avenue and Kenneth road line, will be the crossing of the Pacific Electric line to Burbank. Beyond that point the fare will be 10 cents.

Free transfers will be issued between busses, and also between street cars and busses, within the 6-cent fare limits of Glendale. Free transfers will be issued to and from Los Angeles trains to points corresponding to fare limit points on rail lines.

Traffic Manager Present

O. A. Smith, passenger traffic manager of the Pacific Electric, was in conference with the City Council last night. On discussing his company's application he declared that additional service will be given as the need arises. He said:

"It is proposed to extend Route No. 2 from Grand View and Kenneth roads via Grand View avenue and Tenth street to the city limits of Glendale when the territory is sufficiently developed to warrant such operation.

"It is proposed to extend Route No. 3 from Jackson and Doran streets across the Verdugo Wash and into the new Bellehurst and Rossmoyne tracts when development in such tracts is sufficient to warrant. This operation, of course, is dependent upon a suitable bridge across the Verdugo Wash, which will very likely be constructed in response to demand after the territory develops.

"Another proposed extension would be of Route No. 2, Broadway and Verdugo road and Sycamore Canyon road into Sycamore Canyon road."

BIG DEMAND FOR THEATRE TICKETS

'Covered Wagon's' Glendale Night Is Attraction to Glendalians

The old adage about the early bird is holding good in the sale of tickets for the presentation of "The Covered Wagon" at Grauman's Egyptian theatre in Hollywood next Tuesday night, which has been designated Glendale Night. Since the tickets were placed on sale in The Glendale Evening News office on Tuesday of this week, many residents of the city have taken advantage of the opportunity to come in and pick out seats in excellent locations from which they can secure the best view of the picture.

While every seat in the Egyptian theatre is a good seat and affords an uninterrupted view of the stage, many people prefer to pick out their own seats rather than have to accept what may be left when they call at the box office or at other places where the tickets are on sale, and The Glendale Evening News chart of the house permits ticket purchasers to select their own seats in comfort and to make sure of getting the places they most desire.

WOMEN HURT IN CRASH

LONG BEACH, Sept. 7.—Mrs. W. Ellison received probably fatal injuries early today when her friend, Mrs. H. P. Jenkins drove the automobile in which they were riding into a ditch and crashed through a telephone pole when she was unable to negotiate a sharp turn on the outer harbor boulevard. Mrs. Jenkins was also painfully injured.

Bones buried in the flank of the porpoise, are relics of legs used by this animal's ancestors millions of years ago when living on land.

Maine Boosters Coming To Southern California

ported: Toronto, Winnipeg, St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver. In all of these places, an attempt will be made to build up a friendly feeling for the state of Maine.

The Pine Tree orators will tell the natives of all the above cities how their state is divided roughly into thirds—one-third agricultural, one-third industrial and one-third vocational. They will point out that Maine has nearly 100,000 wage earners, receiving annually over $100,000,000 for their labors, and that the gross value of yearly products within the state is $500,000,000.

Hark to Their Talk!

The orators will talk of the great quantities of dairy products turned out by Maine, of her famous Aroostook county potatoes and her fine "country gentleman" corn, of her $1,000,000 state pier at Portland, of her historic monuments, her magnificent beaches, her fisheries, her shipping, her winter sports,—in short, they will sing the praises of their native state like true orators are known of yore to do.

But will that song be music to the ears of winsome young Miss Los Angeles? Will the lusty bellowings of Old Man Maine sound to her like "Love Tales from Hoffman?" Southern California's lassie has been wooed by many lovers! Will she ever be anything but a friend to Mr. Maine?

Those on the 8000 mile pilgrimage include James Q. Gulnac, of Bangor, president of the Maine State Chamber of Commerce; Col. Fred N. Dow, of Portland, president of the Portland Evening Express; George A. Harrison, general agent of the Grand Trunk railway; Henry F. Merrill, president of the directors of the port of Portland; Guy E. Torrey, president of the Bar Harbor Board of Trade, and George F. West, former president of the Portland Chamber of Commerce.

Climate Is Climate

Excellent representatives of their native state. Able exponents of their cause, no doubt. But human nature is human nature—and climate is climate. Can these staid, representative citizens of chilly Maine withstand the warm, sunny smiles of Miss Los Angeles? Instead of winning her over to their cause, is there not more danger that she will win them over to hers?

And may not that old drama of John Alden and Priscilla be reenacted here by the southern slopes of the luxuriant Pacific, in vivid contrast to that venerable tableau in snowy New England, with Maine in the role of Miles Standish?

Picture the unfolding of the drama, as winsome Miss Los Angeles leans close to the Pine Tree delegation and, after listening to fulsome praise of Old Captain Standish, murmurs: "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

Sopers Fear for Friend In Yokohama Hospital

Rev. and Mrs. Julius Soper of 1305 North Maryland avenue are anxiously awaiting word from Japan from their close friend, Miss Matilda Spencer, who was in the hospital at Yokohama.

Miss Spencer, who is 70 years of age, worked with the Sopers for over thirty years in the mission fields of Japan.

Later she resided in Glendale, and, two years ago, returned to Japan. Although retired from mission service, Miss Soper desired to return to the Orient, and in recognition of their affection for her, the Japanese built her a home.

Her health has been poor, and the last message the Sopers had from her stated that she was in the hospital at Yokohama, and as soon as she was recovered sufficiently she would leave, September 15, for the United States, to return to live in Glendale.

Reports of the Japanese disaster state that the hospital in Yokohama was totally destroyed.

Change in Zone Law Favored by Council

A representative of the Calla Lily Dairy appeared before the City Council last night and asked permission to construct several garages on the property occupied by the plant on Porter and Windsor road. The dairy had been refused the permit by the city's building department on the ground that the property is in the residential zone, and, therefore, the department had no right to give the permit under the zoning law.

During the discussion it developed that property owners do not object to the garages being erected and to meet the situation Councilman Asa Hall made a motion, which carried, to the effect that the zone ordinance be changed so that permits may be granted at the discretion of the council.

C. W. Ingledue, before the council on another matter, urged that care be taken in altering the zone law. He asserted the citizens are protected now from invasion of the residential section and he suggested the council consider long and seriously any contemplated change.

HUSBAND SHOOTS WIFE

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Carrie Perry, 21, who was shot by her husband, Manuel Perry, in their apartment here last night, was in a serious condition this morning. Little hope was held for her recovery. Perry's story that his wife was walking in her sleep and that he shot her thinking she was a burglar is being investigated.

SENOR GULLIVER HAS NOTHING ON PROF. X. ZANTIPPE

He Traces Verdugo Springs From Their Source in Amazing Adventure

Prof. Xavius Zantippe, returning from his annual outing at Big Scare lake, reports calamitous happenings.

It was while fishing for minnows with a bent pin that the learned professor inadvertently hooked a Dinosaur, which for ages had prowled the lake bottom in a vain search for the surface.

The maddened animal, with the pin lodged in its left tonsil, forthwith linked its tail in the plug at the bottom of the lake. Little dreaming of his danger, Prof. Zantippe tugged lustily at the line—when suddenly up came the Dinosaur, bringing plug and all.

Then, in the twinkling of an eye, two things happened, the professor reports. The liberated animal, having thus accidentally found the surface of the lake he had for ages sought in vain, gave one loud whoop of delight and vanished in the wildwood, still bearing in his left tonsil the bent pin and clinging stubbornly to the stopper with his tail.

The result, the professor reports, was that the water began to drain rapidly from the lake, and he found himself sucked down into the vortex at the bottom, where the plug had been.

Professor Zantippe stated at the end of his story, which took seventeen days to recount, that he arrived in Glendale via the underground river which has long been a moot question of local city engineers, coming to the surface in Verdugo Woodlands, where the springs come forth from the mountains.

"There is no doubt in my mind about this underground river," the professor confided to his two friends in the lobby of Glendale's new hotel which is yet to be built.

J. A. Newton, Long-Established Electrical Contractor Here, Talks Shop to Rotarians

GLENDALE'S ROTARY CLUB yesterday enjoyed one of the best programs of the summer months at its luncheon meeting in Jensen's Egyptian Village. J. A. Newton of the electrical company bearing his name, gave a talk on his business, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Skeddon sang and played. Another picnic was planned for next week and Roy L. Kent reported on his trip to the national convention, and elsewhere.

In addition to this Willis Lusby, of the Lusby Mortgage & Investment company, 233 South Brand boulevard, was inducted to membership and Art Hutchinson, of the firm of Olin & Hutchinson, accountants in the Chamber of Commerce building, was accepted as an associate member. Attorney Owen C. Emery gave them some "fatherly" advice, while Secretary Rene Olin heartily congratulated his partner's advent to Rotarianism.

Karr Advertises Shirts

George Karr, of the Baldwin Shirt company, president of the club, insisted that a sartorial display of his products be made with the result that the "shirt waist" party was most enjoyable. He appointed James M. Rhoades as chairman of the picnic committee, instructed Dan Kelty's committee to get busy on a Community Service night program, and called on Roy L. Kent to report.

Figures which were given in the contractor's recital included 7800 miles of travel, 25 different states visited and 44 different beds—all good, except one. He told of meeting such notables as General John J. Pershing and young Teddy Roosevelt at the Boy Scouts' meeting. He also stopped in Champaign, Ill., to visit Bill Byers who lives in Glendale during the winter and conducts a hotel in the Illinois university town.

The meeting was turned over to J. A. Newton, who introduced his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Skeddon, the former well-known opera singer and presently membership committee worker for the Oakmont Country club. His wife accompanied his singing "Dreams," "Vindictus," "My Ain Folks" and "Take Joy Home," all of which were heartily applauded.

Talks on Business

"Banish gloom—banish glare" is the slogan of the electrical trade today, according to Mr. Newton He told of the different departments in his business which has grown from a personal venture in 1910, where six men were em-

Figure It Any Way But United States Never Loses a Cent

LOS ANGELES amusement managers laid before Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell a mathematical admission tax problem, the solution of which required the wisdom of a Solomon. The Collector yesterday rendered his decision which affects every entertainment for which an admission charge of $1.00 is made.

"The tax on admissions is one cent for each ten cents or fraction thereof of the price of admission, so that if the admission is 90 cents the tax is 9 cents, a total of 99 cents. If the admission price is 91 cents, the tax is 10 cents, making a total of $1.01. So it is obviously a mathematical impossibility for $1.00 to include admission and tax.

"However," he continued, "we make it possible for amusement managers to avoid penny change and collect a total of one dollar including admission and tax. Under our new ruling a ticket may be printed: 'Admission 91 cents, tax 10 cents, total $1.01. Reduced price including tax $1.00'—and a total of only $1.00 be collected. Of this amount 10 cents must be paid to Uncle Sam as tax."

GLENDALE'S TEAM WINS HORSESHOE HURLING TROPHIES

State Contest at Santa Monica Results in 'Home Boys' Capturing Banner

Glendale captured the state banner and bronze medal in yesterday's session of the California State Horse Shoe Pitchers' Association tournament at Santa Monica, winning in a play-off with the South Park club of Los Angeles, who had tied her 15 to 6 in the semi-finals.

Glendale was represented by Glenn B. Porter and A. V. Anstey. The eight teams entering, with their score, follow:

| | W. | L. |
|---|---|---|
| Glendale | 15 | 6 |
| South Park, L. A. | 15 | 6 |
| Long Beach | 14 | 7 |
| Redlands | 12 | 9 |
| Oxnard | 9 | 12 |
| Pomona | 7 | 14 |
| San Diego | 7 | 14 |
| El Segundo | 5 | 16 |

The tournament continues throughout today and tomorrow, with the entire seventeen clubs of the association contesting in many of the events. Playing is at the Santa Monica High school athletic field.

Following are the nine clubs in the California State Horse Shoe Pitchers' association, in addition to those above listed: Pasadena, Santa Ana, Santa Monica, Wilshire of L. A., Exposition Park of L. A., East San Diego, Visalia, Monrovia and Covina.

George T. Paine, president of the Glendale club, is also president of the state association.

Dr. H. M. Fairs Moves To Lawson Building

Dr. H. M. Fairs, chiropodist, who is taking offices at 208 Lawson building, on Brand boulevard, states that he was a victim of false arrest in an alleged blackmail plot in Los Angeles recently. He intends to file a personal damage suit as he was not connected with the case other than being a material witness.

GLENDALE GETS IN ON THE DANCE!

News Note—Mayor Spencer Robinson of Glendale; Herman Nelson, vice president of the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank and manager of the Glendale avenue branch; Peter L. Ferry, contractor, and Dr. Jessie A. Russell, prominent local woman realtor, left here yesterday with a party of 125 Los Angeles people on a trade invasion of Mexico.

The tour will extend for sixteen days through many of the principal cities of the southern republic. Extensive programs have been planned for their reception by the Mexican and American Chambers of Commerce; the Mexican government, which will tender a dinner to them at Chepultepec, the Mexican "White House"; the Y. M. C. A., and various other organizations. C. H. Matson, of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, is managing the excursion.

N. P. BANKS POST CHARTER DAY IS COMMEMORATED

T. D. Kanouse, Robert N. Taylor and G. W. Sanford Joined in 1894

When Glendale was but a hint of a village twenty-nine years ago there were twenty-three "Boys in Blue", veterans of the Civil war, here, who gathered together and organized the N. P. Banks post, No. 170, Grand Army of the Republic, to perpetuate that inspiring comradeship of the days of "'61". Of the twenty-three comrades who received the post charter in September 1894, but three are remaining, T. D. Kanouse, Robert N. Taylor and George W. Sanford.

The twenty-ninth anniversary of the chartering of the post was celebrated on Wednesday of this week when seven comrades met at the home of Mr. Kanouse at 1535 West Sixteenth street, Los Angeles, for an informal afternoon to honor the three charter members of the organization.

Temperance Orator

In telling of the gathering one of the old veterans said, "Comrade Kanouse, though more than four score and five years of age has led an exceptionally active life. For many years he was prominently identified with the temperance reform movement and was counted one of its most forceful and convincing advocates. As a platform orator he had few superiors.

"There is no man today held in higher esteem in the order of Good Templars than he is. He retains his mental faculties to a remarkable degree and his comrades of the G. A. R. love to do him honor. He and his good wife proved themselves to be royal hosts and we will cherish a loving memory of the occasion."

Those present for the affair at the Kanouse home and their ages are: T. D. Kanouse, 85; Robert N. Taylor, 77; George W. Sanford, 79; T. M. Barrett, 81; George Grisso, 85; William G. Collins, 76; T. C. Fuller, 78; and C. H. Clark, 76.

Rev. C. R. Norton, the post chaplain, was invited to be present, but because of illness was unable to attend.

WILLYS OVERLAND PRICES SLASHED

High Production Aids Firm To Economize on Cost Of All Models

Announcement of the reduction in the prices of all models on Overland and Willys-Knight cars, as made by the Glendale distributors, Smith-Sloan, Inc., 228 South Brand, comes as a welcome surprise to Glendale motorists, who realize that the advancing cost of so much of the material that enters into the manufacture of automobiles today has a tendency to cause the prices of the finished product to advance also. The statement made by Smith-Sloan, Inc., however, is that the factory output of the Willys-Overland Corporation has reached a figure where it is possible to effect remarkable economies in turning out both lines of cars, and this saving is to be passed on to the buyers of the Willys-Overland models.

The total output, H. C. Kennedy, sales manager of Smith-Sloan, Inc., states, has reached 1200 daily on both makes, and the facilities for enlarging this figure that are now being installed promise an early jump in production figures.

The same high quality that has marked the product of the Willys-Overland plants will be maintained in every particular, it is stated, and no sacrifice of this quality will be made to offset the slash in prices, which are now in effect.

Happyland Park to Get Further Hearing

The application to place Haddock-Nibley Happyland park in a commercial zone came before the City Council last night, accompanied by a number of protests. After a brief discussion, during which Dr. Harry B. # FRUIT MEN FIND PROFITABLE MART

Commission Dealers Pay More Than Canneries, Report Growers

Many fruit growers of the San Fernando valley are finding it more profitable this year to market their crops either to the Los Angeles commission men or to the vegetable stands, than to sell to the canneries, under the prevailing low prices.

With cannery prices at $20 per ton, the price per lug is estimated at 50 cents. The market lug, on the other hand, which weighs but thirty-three pounds, as compared with the forty-three pounds of the cannery lug, brings in the neighborhood of 75 cents, it is reported.

Color is the most desirable attribute for a peach to have if it is to bring top price with the commission men and vegetable stands, the growers report, flavor, quality and size all being of lesser importance. This is, of course, decidedly at variance with the cannery scale of honors, where size and flavor head the list of attributes and color counts for next to nothing.

The vegetable stand men make good buyers, it is reported, and are not over particular, but demand assurance that deliveries can be made at specified times. Feeling that fruit bought direct from the grower is in better condition than that coming through a commission man, they are inclined to favor this method of buying.

Big Beet Yield

The beet yield is running heavy in the San Fernando valley this year, with a high sugar content. Beets being harvested by Charles Kubler on a forty-acre tract located on North Sherman way reveal a sugar content of 20.2 per cent.

By contract with the beet sugar companies, the growers will receive one-half of the sugar produced on their land. At this percentage of 20.2 sugar will produce 404 pounds of sugar to the ton, of which 202 pounds goes to the grower. It is seen that at the present price of 6 cents per pound, this means a return of $96.96 per acre.

As indications are that sugar will mount to 8 cents per pound, and as the price paid the growers will be the average wholesale price in the selling season ending July 1, 1923, it is possible that the grower of beets in the San Fernando valley may receive a return up to $129.28 per acre.

Test Well Planned

While the San Fernando valley, basking in the warm Southern California sunshine, yields up daily her unprecedented harvests of fruit and vegetables and grain, a group of local and Los Angeles people are preparing to sink a test well on the W. W. Volmery property between El Nido street and the river, hoping to encounter oil at from 3000 to 3500 feet.

If necessary, the well will be put down to the 4500-foot level. The rig is to go up inside of thirty days, it is reported. Financing of the well is in charge of a syndicate headed by Edward P. Shimerda, a Los Angeles real estate operator and capitalist.

Health Officer Appointed

Dr. L. S. Welbourn of Van Nuys has been appointed health officer of the San Fernando Annex, succeeding Dr. Charles Canby, recently resigned.

It is Dr. Welbourn's hope that the Department of Public Health will shortly be prevailed upon to appoint a health officer for the valley and that the office will demand full time of the man occupying it.

Dr. Canby resigned the office owing to pressure of private practice.

Asks News of Sister Believed Buried Here

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson has received a letter from Mrs. Mary G. White of Waveland, Ind., asking for information regarding the death of her sister, Mrs. Rod McDonald, who, she declares, passed away in Glendale some time recently.

Enquiries addressed to the local undertaking firms have failed to reveal any record of the death of Mrs. McDonald, and Postmaster Jackson had already advised Mrs. White to this effect, but so insistent is she in her belief that her sister died and was buried here that the readers of The Glendale Evening News are asked to communicate with Postmaster Jackson in case any of them can furnish any information on the subject.

Mrs. White writes that she is too ill to make the trip to the coast to investigate the conditions surrounding her sister's death.

That's All

Glendale, a Beloved City
Appeal in Comic Pictures
Relief Agencies at Work
September "Down East"

By Gil A. Cowan

THE opening of schools, particularly Glendale High school next week, is causing a large interest to be displayed on the part of parents.

It has been the pleasure and privilege of The Glendale Evening News to furnish all of the information available to the many anxious ones, especially those residents of the Eagle Rock and other Los Angeles sections who must send their children to Glendale.

Peculiarly enough, these people are pleased with the opportunity. As one mother and father said last evening, "We want our son to attend Glendale high school for, although we live in Los Angeles, we trade in Glendale and want to be known as residents of this 100 per cent American city."

That kind of talk sounds mighty good.

Features in The Glendale Evening News attract attention, not only in this community, but far away, it seems. From Carmi, Ill., we receive a communication from a reader enclosing one of Van Zelm's comic strips, "The Main Thing on Main Street" in which the "weekly mail" is featured.

The correspondent includes a picture postcard of the Carmi union station. Referring to the comic, he says: "This is a good picture." T. W. Hay is the name given and undoubtedly he is known to some reader of The Glendale Evening News.

Hundreds of copies of this paper are mailed to friends and relatives "back home" almost daily. The Glendale Evening News is a medium of which the people are proud. And we are glad of it!

Isn't it wonderful, folks, how quickly relief agencies get into action in case of a catastrophe such as suffered by Japan last week.

Already this nation is reported to have subscribed more than two million dollars to the American Red Cross fund. The Salvation Army, the Presbyterian church and other agencies are actively at work.

America has a heart!

"Down East" folk will be pleased to read the following editorial from the Christian Science Monitor which savors of John Greenleaf Whittier, although it is prose:

"Again September, cautious and temperate painter on the canvas of the seasons, comes with brush and palette to add her simple record to the panorama which makes up the picture of the year. First of the autumn months, her advent is hardly noticed, usually, in the northern temperate zones. The time has not come to bid adieu to summer nor yet to prepare a grudging but courteous welcome to winter. But the gradually shortening daylight, the more frequent appearance of yellowing leaves in the forests and on the hillsides, the flying mists from the clumps of cattails that have grown so vigorously at the edge of ponds and lakes, are unfailing signs that September, unheralded, has parted the curtains for her dignified entrance.

"With what caution and careful attention to detail are the first markings made by her pencils and brushes! Into the simple green background there is quietly and painstakingly drawn a charming color outline, in bright yellows and soft brown, of the marvelous panorama which will be left for Queen October, prodigal waster of colors of richer shades, to complete. Already in the northern regions of the United States, in the mountain country of New England bordering the Canadian line, the birds and the little furry tribespeople of the woods are making preparations for the changing season. Soon there will be vast numbers of the former wending their unhurried way southward, where they and their forbears have learned that a seasonal welcome awaits them. The forest denizens who are so inclined will begin to lay by their winter stores of nuts and dry berries. The foraging raccoon will "stake his claim" in a near-by cornfield, where shocks of ripened grain sometimes remain until after snow flies. In the deeper forest glens, young fawns, grown careless and unafraid under the protection of the older members of the herd, intuitively learn their first lesson in caution.

"There will be summer days in September, despite the cool nights and the deepening haze which clings longer in the mornings to the mountain sides. But the inevitable change comes apace. Soon the invisible fires, so remote that they seem almost fanciful, will waft the sweet smoke of the Indian summer toward the south. The chestnut and hickory trees will shower their brown nuts upon the ground beneath them. Along the lake shore the late camper will hear again the distant cry of a loon, and through the gathering darkness at evening there will come the whir of wings, marking the passing or the temporary halting of wild ducks in flight. To those who read the language of the woods and lakes, these are the intelligible and inevitable whisperings of a delightful season."

Directions for the Diet, From 6-12 Months, No. IV

(Note: If you have missed the first three articles of this series in which I have discussed bread, butter, beef broth, fruit and cereals, you should get the back issues at the newspaper office. These articles were published the last three Fridays.—L. H. P.)

Important! Important! Remember the principle of adding new foods to baby's diet, mothers. It is to begin with very small amounts of each new food and increase the amount very gradually so that the baby's digestive powers which are latent will develop gradually and will not be overtaxed. Feed the baby very regularly every four hours—at 6, 10, 2, 6 and 10 o'clock. You can omit the 10 p. m. feeding at the 10th or 11th month. Give nothing between meals but water or orange juice.

Vegetables—

All vegetables should be steamed or cooked (for all the family), only until tender, in a tight covered vessel and with very little water. Never have any excess water to be drained off from the vegetables because the valuable mineral elements are lost in this way. The juice from the cooked vegetables — diluted at first—can be given the babe the seventh month at the 2 p. m. feeding and will prepare him for the strained vegetables which you can give by the eighth month.

Pureed vegetables are vegetables put through a fine strainer and perhaps thickened a little bit with white sauce. The best vegetables—on account of its iron and high vitamins—is spinach, but other vegetables may be used as they are used by the family. It is wise, however, to have spinach three or four times a week.

The vegetables that can be pureed for the baby are spinach, tomatoes, carrots, peas, string beans, cauliflower, asparagus tips, kolrabi, brussell sprouts. Remember that all vegetables should be strained through a fine sieve until the baby's first anterior molars are in (the twelfth and sixteenth month, usually.

The vegetables can be served with a tiny bit of butter or meat stock or cream; no other fat.

Potato can be begun by the eighth or ninth month at the 2 p. m. feeding. Baked potato is most digestible, and the part nearest the skin has the most of the mineral elements. A tiny bit of butter or the beef broth can be used on the baked potato—greasy gravies never. Thoroughly mashed boiled potato (boiled with the skins on) can be given also.

Give the vegetables and vegetable juices in the same gradual manner as the cereals. Increase the amount until by the end of the year one-quarter to one-half cup (measured after cooking) is taken during the day.

Next Friday I'll continue the directions for the baby's diet for its sixth to twelfth month.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents.

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 250 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

AN ATHLETIC COMBINATION

Here it is, fair devotees of sport, the athletic combination which may be made at home. It closes in front, the straight upper edge being finished with shoulder straps of fine tape or self material. The lower back sections are lapped and may be attached to the lower edge of upper back section or to a waistband. Any of the cotton materials of a mercerized finish may be used for this combination, which, in medium size, requires 2⅛ yards 36-inches wide.

Pictorial Review Combination No. 1543. Sizes, 34 to 48 inches bust. Price, 30 cents.

SERVICEABLE AND CHIC

This dress is quite as practical and smart developed entirely in one material as in two. It has splendid remodeling possibilities, however, for it offers an opportunity to combine two dresses of a former season into one that is strictly up to the minute in style. The round neck and short kimono sleeves are bound with self-material. Silk, cotton or woolen materials may be made up in this way. Medium size requires 1½ yards 36-inch plain and 1⅞ yards 36-inch figured material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1697. Sizes, 34 to 48 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Beauty Chats

By Edna Kent Forbes

WHEN YOU MOTOR

Nobody wants what they call the motorists' complexion, a slightly toughened, brownish skin with tense lines and a squint between the eyes. The way to avoid this is to prepare for a long trip before hand, and to spend five minutes on your complexion after the trip is done.

First be sure you're properly dressed. You needn't wear the atrocities that usually pass for "motor bonnets" (though I must admit that some of the new ones aren't bad). Any snugly fitting, small brimmed or brimless hat will do. It should be plain, and soft enough to crush up, snug enough to stay on in the worst wind. It should cover most of the hair; a little may show to soften the face. It may or may not have a veil attached. But whether you drive or not, you need stout, loose gloves, or your hands will chap from the wind and burn from the sun.

Before going out, rub a little vanishing cream into the skin—ordinarily vanishing cream is harmful, but it has its uses, and this is one of them. Wipe off as much as possible, and powder. Whatever dust goes on the skin mixes with this cream, and can be wiped off easily later on with a little chamois. Powder again and your skin will look fresh.

At the end of the day wipe over the face with cleansing cream and wash off with a cloth soaked in hot water. This takes out every bit of dust and leaves the skin refreshed and pink, with all the dryness gone. A mere soap and water wash after a day's exposure would leave the skin hard and shiny and feeling taut and uncomfortable.

Of course, these elaborate directions are not for the short and frequent runs, but for the long, all-day motor trip.

Disgusted Miss: To develop the legs and arms, take up any of the sports that afford plenty of exercise. Tennis would be particularly good for this.

L. J. L. B.: The enlarged pores on your chin and nose come from the tendency you have to an oily skin and it is only another step to the blackhead trouble; but if you correct the oiliness you stop all the difficulties. In place of soap, wash the face with bran or oatmeal bags. These are made of cheesecloth, and the mixture to put in them is a cupful of raw oatmeal or bran, a scant teaspoonful of finely shaved soap of any good make and a pinch of powdered benzoin. If this is not convenient, close the pores after bathing the face, by taking an ice rub or by using a few drops of benzoin in the last rinse water.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of seventeen and I have a friend whom I once loved very dearly, but we had a small quarrel, as most young girls do. She said several mean things about me that were not true and seemed two-faced at times while I was going with her, and yet we had good times together.

I have several friends and gain new ones right along and yet I feel if I were to make up with her she would be sorry that she said mean things about me. I do not miss her and yet I do not feel that I can go through this world feeling that I have one enemy.

If you were I what would you do? RESTLESS.

Speak to the girl as if she were your friend. It is not necessary to regard her as an enemy even if you see little of her in the future. As you grow older you will find that people are not perfect and you will like many with faults which are most trying. You will have to learn to love in spite of grave faults and to forgive for the sake of the good you can see in your friends.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am very quick tempered for one only fourteen and often quarrel with my friends.

I had a quarrel with one of my best friends about two weeks ago and she has acted queerly ever since. She does not say things about me as most enemies usually do and still she does not own me as a friend. I miss her friendship immensely.

Before our quarrel we were inseparable and now she does not even speak. Should I be the first to speak or should I stick to my word and not speak as I said in our quarrel? PUSSY.

Be big enough to speak. You were foolish to make such a statement in your quarrel and would be even more foolish to go on without speaking when your heart cries out to do so.

Dear Mrs. Thompson. I have a light green crepe dress. Last week I got some spots on it and tried to clean them off with gasoline, as I thought it never spotted anything. After my dress was dry I discovered that the gasoline made big rings around the places I cleaned. What can I do to take away these rings? I would dip the whole dress but am afraid it would ruin it and it couldn't be worn at all. THANK YOU.

If the dress is new and is not soiled, you can likely remove the rings by steaming them over the spout of a teakettle. I would advise, however, that you send the garment to a professional cleaner.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a very dear girl friend who is interested in a young man who clerks at the grocery store where she trades. He seems very polite and well-bred and from all appearances of a refined family. I am certain he is interested in my friend. Please suggest some perfectly legitimate way in which she might make advances.

Also, would it be wrong for me to entertain a lonesome married man while his wife is visiting? THANK YOU.

Your girl friend might ask the clerk to come to see her some evening. I can suggest no other way to further the acquaintance, and I do not consider such a method particularly blind.

I would not advise you to entertain a married man during his wife's absence.

A small boy was taken by his father to Washington and taken to visit congress, says the Chicago Tribune.

He was much interested in the chaplain, who always opened the sessions with prayer. Both in the senate and the house he had observed this procedure.

Finally he asked: "Papa, why does the minister come in every day and pray for congress?"

"You've got it all wrong, son," replied his father. "The minister comes in every day, looks over congress, and then prays for the country."

On the Spur of the Moment

By Roy L. Moulton

OH, PROFESSOR!

Andrew Jackson Devoe, famous weather prophet of Hackensack, N. J., says August will be the hottest month in fifty years. Cheerio, Andy! Don't you remember the old classic? It runs as follows:

Let us all forget the weather.
What on earth do we care whether
It is hot or it is cold?
Why get fussed and bawl and scold?
What's the use of yelling, screeching?
What's the use of always preaching?
There's no use to go and rubber
At the mercury, you lubber,
For it only makes you hotter—
And to bear the thing you gotter.
Anyhow,
You'll allow.
Just forget the thing completely.
When you walk about, smile sweetly.
Try to make out you are chilly—
Knock 'em silly
With the notion
That the people on the ocean,
Where the breeze is strong and true,
Haven't got a thing on you.
Do not go about regretting
That the summer's here, and sweating.
Do not puff and do not pant,
Do not rave and do not rant.
This advice
Without price
Is the kind we read all summer,
And it puts us on the hummer,
It is good, we can't gainsay it,
But still we cannot obey it,
For it seems like tommyrot,
When we're hot,
And the mercury is humping
To the tube's apex, and bumping.
When we're warm, we always know it,
And we cannot help but show it,
All the stoics in the land
Cannot make us understand,
And the entire stoic school
Cannot make us feel we're cool
When we're not—
When we're hot.
When we're pretty durn near frazzled.
And our senses are bedazzled
And a flood of perspiration
Seems to bathe the entire nation.
So we'll go right on a-cussin'
And a-frettin' and a-fussin',
For we've simply got to kick—
If we don't we will be sick.
We will keep right on a-slammin'
This doggone hot weather game—
For, if do or do not,
We will get it,
Just the same.

GIDDY YAPP

Glideon Yapp, or Giddy Yapp, as he was known because of his wife always spurring him on, was a man who thought he had acquired enough money in his past life to lose. Result was he went into the producing of moving pictures.

To be modern in every respect without being sensible, he hired a comedian to concoct his heavy sob dramas and a tragedian to write the short reel comedies.

People hailed him as a genius because they did not know whether to laugh or cry at his productions, although they did snicker aside. Whenever the showing of one of his tragic pictures was over, the public would always leave sad, because they did not know what it was all about.

The result was he made too much money, though he was richer than a prize fighter, and died.

Moral: Would be a good one if there was one—Frank Del Witt.

"Yes, sir—but we acquitted him."

MRS. CAMPBELL IS HONORED AT TEA

Tuesday Afternoon Club's President Writes of Vacation Trip

A happy event of the vacation trip Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell are taking north, was a tea given Tuesday at the Del Monte hotel, Monterey, by Mrs. Farrell, vice-president of the Monday club, honoring Mrs. Campbell.

Mr. Campbell and Mr. Farrell became friends years ago, when in Alaska, and the renewal of this friendship was unusually pleasant for Mrs. Campbell, who is president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and Mrs. Farrell have a mutual interest in their club activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left Glendale last Saturday afternoon. Prior to their departure Mr. Campbell had been ill for over a week, but, according to a letter from Mrs. Campbell received at The Glendale Evening News office today, he is much improved and greatly enjoying the vacation.

Mrs. Campbell writes from La Playa, Carmel by the Sea, "We stopped at Santa Barbara Saturday night and we have found most of the hotels full to overflowing. This is a beautiful spot and so restful and quiet. The odor of the pines is so fragrant and the coast is so pretty with rocks and little stretches of silver sand."

Santa Fe Replacing Rails on Sunset Line

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 7.—The Santa Fe Railroad company has started work replacing ten and one-half miles of track on the Sunset branch from Pentland to Taft at a cost of $100,000.

The line, which is under Santa Fe control at this time, and which is operated alternately by that company and the Southern Pacific for five year periods, was constructed eighteen years ago with sitxy-two pound rails. The increase in the traffic over the line to the oil fields has increased to the extent that it is now necessary to lay heavier steel and ninety pound material will go into the section to be renewed.

SEARCH FOR BODY

ASTORIA, Ore., Sept. 7.—Searching parties renewed their efforts to find the body of Pat H. Allen, vice-commander of Portland Post No. 1 of the American Legion, who with William Adams, legionnaire, was drowned Wednesday night when the speedboat Miss Portland foundered fifty yards from the docks here. The body of Adams was found early Thursday. Frank Moore and Ed Barreth, other members of the party, were saved.

PLAN DISPLAY OF NEW BUICK CARS

Tanner & Hall to Show Full Line of 1924 Models to Motor Fans

For the convenience of the hundreds of motorists and others interested in the new line of 1924 Buick models who are unable to make the trip into Los Angeles to inspect the new cars, Tanner & Hall, 237 South Brand, local distributors, have arranged to stage a display of the new models in their showrooms, starting tomorrow. Practically the entire line will be shown in the shop, which is now being prepared for their reception, and in the front of the establishment an open chassis will be on exhibition, showing the workings of every part of the improved mechanism that is embodied in the new Buicks.

The firm will keep open until 11 o'clock at night and will also remain open on Sunday to give everyone a chance to see at close range just what the beauties and the advantages of the new Buick models are, and experts from the sales force will be on duty to explain in detail the workings of the cars.

Ever since the first demonstrator for the 1924 models was delivered to Tanner & Hall the firm has been taxed to the limit to show the car off to the throngs of automobile enthusiasts who have been anxious to see it in operation and to learn all the fine points embodied in its construction. The number of persons who have ridden in the demonstrator has been legion, but most of them have expressed a desire to inspect the entire line, in order to decide just what particular type they wanted before placing their orders, and it is to meet this demand that Tanner & Hall have arranged to bring the greatest possible assortment of new models here for the inspection of local buyers.

The 1924 sixes have been improved by the inclusion of ninety-five absolutely new features, and the fours have had thirty-nine improvements embodied in their construction, according to Ray L. Galvin, sales manager for Tanner & Hall, so that the changes from the Buicks of former years, while adhering to the Buick standards of progress and improvement, make the 1924 models distinct departures from anything ever before placed on the market by the Buick organization. While these features are, in a sense, new, Mr. Galvin states, in that they are apparently a substantial improvement over preceding models, each is along the lines of development rather than innovation.

Difficulty in securing cotton linters has caused German celluloid manufacturers to substitute wood fibers temporarily.

Half Million Death Toll Is Believed Safe Estimate by Refugees Reaching Kobe

KOBE, Sept. 7.—Half a million persons lost their lives in the Japanese disaster. Refugees arriving here from Yokohama and Tokio today stated that unquestionably the total death toll will reach this great figure. Property damage is incalculable.

No persons are being admitted in Tokio who have not sufficient rations for themselves.

The great Japanese naval base at Yokohama was practically destroyed by munitions explosions. The Koishivawa arsenal also was ruined by explosions.

The destruction of these two naval bases is the greatest loss to Japan's national defense.

Warships which were in the harbor at Yokosuka were badly damaged.

Several members of the imperial family here were killed. They include Prince Kacho, who was smothered to death in the collapse of a train at Yokosuka; Prince Kanin's daughter, the second son of Prince Higashi Kuni and Prince Takashige were killed at Shimizu.

Temporary transportation service is being arranged between Yokohama and Shimizu.

Emperor Yoshihito contributed 10,000,000 yen for immediate relief of the stricken in the capital city.

"Tokio and Yokohama alone must be almost rebuilt and financial help will be necessary. America and Britain will aid, but Japan must take the initial step.

"The outside world can hardly realize that a great part of the empire island's progress in modernity, in its factories, railroads and machinery, has been swept away. Rapid and easy recovery is impossible."

List of British Dead Is Given

SHANGHAI, Sept. 7.—A wireless message received here today from the British cruiser Despatch stated that the following British were among the dead at Yokohama:

J. H. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Peacock, Leonard Eyten, F. L. Elliott, Florence Pepper, C. M. Maion, R. J. Ackland, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Grass, C. St. Angrove, G. Niven, F. J. R. Cullinan, Maurice Russell, Bob Jones, Mrs. Meiland and child, R. D. McKinnell, Thom Thomas, Mrs. A. Robertson, Mrs. Holyoak Box, Mrs. S. H. Somerton, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson and child. Charles Piquet, manager of the Thomas Cook Tour agency, killed at Yokohama.

Death of Banker C. E. Morse Denied

KOBE, Sept. 5.—(Delayed).—The reported death from Shanghai of C. E. Morse was denied here today by the International Banking corporation, with which he was connected.

Shanghai dispatches stated that Morse was stabbed to death in Tokio by brigands.

Great Nations Ready To Finance Japan

KOBE, Sept. 7.—"The United States and Great Britain will stand by Japan in financing the rebuilding of the destroyed cities of Yokohama and Tokio, but only when the Japanese government has shown itself willing to take the first step," W. L. Farnham, National City bank representative at Tokio, declared here today.

"A huge loan is necessary if Japan's position as a power in the business world is to be relieved of the strain of this catastrophe," Farnham declared.

Farnham arrived here today from Tokio, a refugee.

"Japan's principal cities, streets, communications and her Yokohama-Tokio electric line, upon which she looked with great pride, are all destroyed, Farnham continued. The electrified railroad is beyond repair.

News Office Installs Modern Safe-Cabinet

The Glendale Evening News has installed a new standard Safe-Cabinet in the business office for the expeditious handling of ever-increasing business. It weighs more than a ton, stands six feet high and is three and one-half feet wide. It makes an attractive addition to the busy headquarters of Glendale's modern newspaper plant at 139 South Brand boulevard.

The safe is fire-proof and is of a type similar to those being installed in all modern offices where records must be accessible at a minute's notice. It was purchased through the agency of Shafe's stationery store, 123A South Brand boulevard.

SUNLAND

READY TO BUILD BAPTIST EDIFICE

Jesse Smith, Son of Pastor, Leaving for Louisville This Week-End

Work is expected to begin soon on the construction of the new Baptist church at Sunland, according to Rev. W. E. Smith, who says that the deed to the property is in the process of going through escrow and will probably be transferred by next Wednesday.

The new building will be located in the Lancaster tract on lots given the church by the owner of the tract. The church has also purchased another lot adjoining, giving a total frontage of 140 feet. A parsonage will probably be built on this lot later.

Construction work may begin at any time, as there is over one-half of the required sum available for the building.

The old church property at the corner of Sherman avenue and the park drive was bought by George Huse of Sunland and is being held for $5000, a considerable advance in value in the last few months.

Farewell to Son

A farewell reception was given last night in honor of Jesse Smith, son of the pastor, who is leaving this week for Louisville, Ky., where he will attend the Baptist seminary for the next three years.

He graduated this summer from the Redlands university and has been spending the summer assisting his father at Sunland and has made many friends. He became popular with the young people during his short stay there. He is an accomplished vocalist and the congregation and social gatherings have enjoyed his singing.

Chinese Pioneers On Way to Eastern Home

STOCKTON, Sept. 7.—Chinese Camp, in Tuolumne county, once the home of 1500 Celestials, lost its last Chinese residents this week. China Mary and Sam, lovers in their eighties, left the famous mining camp to return to the Flowery kingdom after residing in Tuolumne county since pioneer days. With them went Jim Lee and old Lock of Sonora, said to be 85 years old.

Two hundred thousand automobiles and 25,000 taxicabs travel New York streets every day.

J. A. Newton Talks Shop to Rotarians

ployed to a large concern employing thirty-eight people.

Naming the head of each division of the work he said the principal departments were construction, fixture factory, retail sales, service and office. In tracing the development of the business he said it started first with wiring, then come fixtures, lamps, appliances and labor saving necessities, such as vacuum cleaners, washing machines, electric irons and cooking devices.

"I am looking forward to doing a better business in Glendale," said Mr. Newton, "for, when we figure work it is not simply stringing wires. It is with the idea of giving service, protecting property owners against overloaded circuits, and by all means doing the work right or not at all."

An interesting comparison of wages was made by Mr. Newton. In 1910 the scale for electricians was $3 and $3.50 a day. Now it is $8 and $9. Incidentally, he lays claim to having been in business continuously here for a longer period than any other merchant.

Visiting Rotarians yesterday included Kirke H. Field of Redlands, Leonard R. Collins and W. J. Riley of Burbank; A. E. Sears, Richard Riethmuller, John Bloeser, Byron Badham and E. B. Wyman of Los Angeles.

Next week the entertainment committee will have charge of the program.

Plan Test of Motor Vehicles Act's Validity

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—Suit by Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the State Motor Vehicle department, to test the constitutionality of the new motor vehicle law, will probably be launched in the form of mandamus proceedings against State Controller Ray L. Riley within the next few days.

Controller Riley has virtually forced the suit by standing pat on his original announcement that he would refuse to pay county traffic officers employed under the new law. Riley holds that the legislature did not make a valid appropriation for the work and also questions the validity of other portions of the new act.

Reclamation Service Saves 1,700,000 Acres

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 7.—More than 1,700,000 acres of land in Northern California have been entirely or partially reclaimed since the creation of the State Reclamation board, according to a report summarizing the board's activities made public today by A. B. Waugh, assistant secretary.

The huge reclamation program has cost in the neighborhood of $45,000,000, the report shows.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—U. S. Sacks London Stage; "The Shiek" Besieged; London Traffic Troubles.

TOMORROW—Random Paris Notes, by Alice Langelier, Paris Bureau.

By F. A. WRAY
For International News Service

LONDON, Sept. 7.—The urgent desire of American impresarios to enlist the services of British artistes is said to be causing a shortage of genuine theatrical stars in London.

Agents and managers have competed this summer to induce leading British players to cross the Atlantic, at salaries far in excess of what they could ever hope to obtain in Britain. The result is that London managers are hard put to find clever players, with real box-office drawing powers.

Edward Laurillard, who has recently been trying to find "magnets" for the leading parts in "The Cousin from Nowhere" and "Lovers' Lane," complains pathetically of the "famine."

"It is practically impossible to cast these places," he says, "and I may have to produce them first in New York, after all. I have another big play waiting to be put on, but it is simply a case of waiting to get the right players."

Among the best-known British players now proceeding to New York are: Gertrude Lawrence, Beatrice Lillie, Marie Blanche and Morris Harvey. In addition to these, Roy Royston, Walter Williams, Cicely Debenham, Morah Blaney and Gwen Farrar have all received big offers to quit England. Jack Buchanan, famous comedian and dancer, has had an offer from one American manager of $1,750 a week.

The ordinary actor, however, regards the situation with complete equanimity.

If Rudolph Valentino could comply with all the requests from lady correspondents for locks of his hair, during his stay in London, he would be as bald as Jim Fitzsimmons himself within a week.

Valentino keeps a special lady secretary to open these missives. Nearly all begin, "Please excuse me for troubling you," and dozens are marked "strictly private" and express a hope that the letter will not be dealt with by a secretary, "especially if she is a lady."

One girl wrote asking that Valentino should put his thumb in ink, make an impression on a nice piece of paper and return it to the writer. Another wrote that she would esteem it a real favor if the film star would buy her a new frock as she was "dreadfully hard up."

Twenty-three people have written asking Valentino to pay their passages to the United States, and altogether his postbag becomes more varied and more interesting every day.

London traffic has reached a state of congestion and chaos where the most drastic measures have become necessary. The narrow mainways of the city were never intended for the present terrific volume of traffic and in some of the main streets like the Strand, Piccadilly and Oxford street the long lines of vehicles frequently are at a standstill for 15 or 20 minutes at a time.

No easy remedy is available. London was not planned like a modern city. Its original narrow lanes, some of them now main streets, followed the winding ways of the Thames and other streams that ran through he original site. Haphazard ways of building have made their course even more intricate.

While it is impossible to replan London the authorities are going as far as they humanly can to do away with the present congestion. The Strand—the main artery—is rapidly being widened, and in two or three years the Strand will be a fine wide road. In addition, broad relief streets are contemplated to relieve the main streets of some of their burden, heavy goods traffic is to be diverted at certain hours, and the New York scheme of control towers is to be adopted.

Even with these measures, however, and the general speed-up of traffic it is expected to be three to four years before London's congestion is likely to be really relieved.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WATERMELON

"Ting-a-ling!" rang the telephone bell in the hollow stump bungalow of Uncle Wiggily one day.

"I'll see who it is," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. And when the muskrat lady had listened for a moment, saying "Yes" and "No" and "Oh, how lovely!" a couple of times, she turned to Uncle Wiggily and said:

"Mrs. Twistytail is coming over to see us."

"Good!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Is she going to bring any of the little Twistytails with her?"

"No," replied the muskrat lady housekeeper, who had hung up the telephone, "she is coming all by herself. And do you know what I wish you'd do, Wiggy?"

"Do you mean comb down my fur or put on a new necktie?" asked the rabbit uncle.

"Don't be silly! You always look nice," laughed Nurse Jane. "But I wish you'd get a large melon for lunch. Mrs. Twistytail is very fond of melons."

"Then I'd better get a watermelon," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "That is the largest kind. All right. I'll take my auto and get the largest melon I can find so you can give Mrs. Twistytail two slices if she wants that many."

"Oh, she's sure to want two, at least!" laughed Nurse Jane.

Then the muskrat lady began to tidy up the hollow stump bungalow, while Uncle Wiggily set off in his auto to buy a large watermelon at the seven and eight cent store.

He found a lovely one—green on the outside and red on the inside, with plenty of black seeds. The watermelon was placed in the back part of the auto, and Uncle Wiggily stepped on the gas and started for home.

But he had not gone very far when, all of a sudden, he felt the car run over something. There was a jolt, a jar and a jiggle and then came a hiss of air like a steam radiator on a cold and frosty morning.

"Puncture!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"I thought that would stop him!" chuckled another voice.

Out of the bushes at the side of the road stepped the Bob Cat and the Alligator—the Skillery Scallery Alligator with humps on his tail. Uncle Wiggily looked at the bad chaps and then at a sharp-pointed nail in the road. He had ridden over this nail, puncturing his tire.

"I put that nail there!" laughed the Alligator.

"And I helped!" chuckled the Bob Cat. "Now come into my den and we'll nibble your ears!" And as he and the Alligator led poor Uncle Wiggily into the rocky cave den the 'Gator saw the big watermelon in the back of the auto.

"Oh, we must have this, too," gurgled the 'Gator.

"By all means!" growled the Bob Cat. "We'll tie Uncle Wiggily outside the den by a grapevine rope while we eat the melon. After that we'll nibble his ears."

So they tied the bunny rabbit outside the cave by a long piece of rope from the wiid grapevine. Then, taking the melon inside the cave, the Alligator and Bob Cat cut it open in halves and each one, taking a half, began scooping out the juicy red pulp.

"Ah, that was good!" said the 'Gator, tossing outside the cave his empty scooped out half of the melon.

"Very good," growled the Bob Cat. And he also tossed outside the cave his empty half of the scooped out watermelon. "And now for that rabbit's ears."

"Oh, let's rest a bit and sleep," said the 'Gator. "There is no hurry and I am not so hungry after eating the melon."

"All right," said the Bob Cat. "But first I'll look and see if Uncle Wiggily is tied safely." He looked outside the cave, but Uncle Wiggily wasn't there. "He's gone!" howled the Bob Cat. "I see the empty watermelon rolling down hill, but Uncle Wiggily is gone!"

And so the bunny was. For when he saw the empty halves of the melon come rolling out of the cave the bunny thought of a trick. He gnawed himself loose from the grapevine rope, got inside the empty, scooped out melon, and, holding the halves together, he wiggled and woggled until he started it rolling down hill away from the cave.

Inside the empty melon Uncle Wiggily rolled until he reached his auto not far away. Then he burst out of the empty melon, jumped into his car, stepped on the gas and away he went so fast that the bad chaps couldn't catch him. Then he bought another melon and got safely to his bungalow with it.

"My, you were a long time, Wiggy!" said Nurse Jane, who was talking to Mrs. Twistytail.

"I had a great adventure," said the bunny, and he told about it, just as I have told you. And if I find a penny rolling up hill to buy a lollypop for the baby elephant I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's polite hat.

WHERE TO USE VARIABLE CONDENSERS

In picking out a variable condenser or condensers for your set it would be well to bear in mind the following: Condensers vary in capacity. The same make of condensers have approximately the same capacity for an equal number of plates. Where the number and size of the plates vary as well as spacing of them, their capacity varies.

Roughly, a 43-plate condenser has a capacity of .001 microfarad a 23 plate condenser .0005 microfarad and an 11-plate condenser has a capacity of .00025. Smaller condensers have a lower value where the material is the same.

From the above it will readily be seen that in choosing the proper condenser, the equipment you have as well as the wave lengths you wish to tune to must be considered. It should not be a hit and miss affair.

In the primary, or aerial circuit the variable condenser can be connected either in series, or in parallel with the inductance. By connecting it in series, it reduces the wave length and by shunting it around the coil, it increases the wave lengths you may tune to. Likewise, the capacity of the condenser affects the wave length you may tune to. Where you have a long aerial a 43-plate condenser may not allow you to tune down to the amateur wave lengths, while a 23-plate condenser, with about half the capacity, will. The reason for this is, the aerial and ground or counterpoise form one condenser and then the variable condenser in series with it makes another; and, two condensers in series reduces the capacity of both, to less than either one.

When you have the condenser dial set at 0 the plates of the condenser should be separated as far as they will go. This is the minimum capacity and your wave length will be lowest at this point. As you turn the condenser from 0 to 100 you increase the wave length just the same as when you add more wire to your coil by moving the switch arm over the contacts.

When using a variable condenser in the primary circuit it is advisable to install a series-parallel switch, which, as the name implies allows you to switch the condenser either in series or parallel. When the condenser is in series tuning with it is much sharper that when in parallel. Tuning without a condenser in the primary makes tuning sharper.

Where you have, say 50 turns in the secondary coil, a .005 condenser will allow you to tune between 200 and 575 meters, while if a .001 condenser is used across the secondary it will tune up to about 800 meters, and will also tune much sharper. This is using a long aerial.

Variable grid condensers can be used, but once the setting is made for each tube, there is no other adjustments made for that condenser and it is cheaper to experiment with fixed condensers in that circuit rather than to go to the expense of buying one. If one is used, 11 plates will answer the purpose. It is interesting to note what effect difference of grid condenser capacities have on signals.

Where a three circuit regenerative set using a tickler coil is used, a variable condenser either across the tickler coil or shunted around the telephones is a very good means of controlling regeneration. It also makes tuning much sharper, as signals can be weeded out by merely turning this condenser.

On single circuit sets, tuning is made much sharper by using two variable condensers in the primary, one in series with the coil and the other in parallel to it.

Where it is not desired to tune over a wide band of wave lengths it is better to use more inductance (wire) and smaller condensers than to use large condensers. Tuning with a small condenser gives a vernier effect which is difficult to obtain with a large condenser unless it has a vernier attached to it.

The large sombrero beaver hat, trimmed with pure silver, that was worn by Pancho Villa in his campaigns in Mexico, was valued at over $100.

---

Pointers

To get away from interference you will have to use a two-circuit receiver.

A receiving aerial does not require as much insulation as a transmitting one.

Besides shortening the life of your tubes, burning them too bright will reduce signal strength.

BILLY WHISKERS

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

In yesterday's story Billy and Nannie were looking at the wonderful fireworks and rays of the aurora borealis.

At one moment the rays would stand still, then suddenly they would move and criss-cross each other as if the colors of the rainbow had straightened out and were playing tag with one another. At another moment great volumes of steam would be thrown out by a big steam engine there for that purpose. This steam would form in curls and cloud effects. On these the colored rays from the reflectors would be cast, making them palest green, amethyst, or seashell pink, and these delicately tinted clouds would float over the bay whose placid waters lapped the shore as if sending out murmurs of appreciation, while the moon-tipped waves danced with joy at all this beauty.

"Oh, Billy, Billy, was ever anything more beautiful? I feel I must be dreaming, and if I speak the dream city will fade and vanish in the darkness."

"You are right, Nannie. I don't believe there ever was anything more beautiful designed by human minds or built by human hands. Tomorrow we will go inside the grounds and visit building by building and discover what is in each of them."

As they turned to go, Nannie spied what seemed to be a black box surrounded with lights bright as diamonds. This box-like affair rose from the ground supported by lines of light, for that was all one could see. It rose until it was the height of sixty-feet from the ground, then it made a circle in the air and descended as it had risen.

"What do you suppose it is?" Nannie asked.

"I don't know, but it must be made of steel, or something of the kind that we cannot see. It is probably worked like the Ferris wheel they had at the Chicago world's fair. Tomorrow we will go and find out exactly what it is."

"It seems strange to think of eating right after seeing all these beautiful things, but do you know, Billy, I feel starved?"

"So do I, but where we are to find anything to eat at this time of night is more than I can tell, though I'll find something, never fear. I never yet saw the time when I could not—that is, if I was not shut up. Did you?"

"No, I never did," returned the loyal Nannie.

"Let us walk up this street a little way to those fine looking houses with yards around them. We can probably find some grass on their lawns to nibble if nothing else," was Billy's first suggestion.

WHERE LIES THE LAND

Where lies the land to which the ship would go?
Far, far ahead, is all her seamen know.
And where is the land she travels from? Away,
Far, far behind, is all that they can say.

On sunny noons upon the ship's smooth face,
Linked arm in arm, how pleasant here to pace;
Or, o'er the stern reclining, watch below
The foaming wake far widening as we go.

On stormy nights when wild northwesters rave,
How proud a thing to fight with wind and wave!
The dripping sailor on the reeling mast
Exults to bear, and scorns to wish it past.

Where lies the land to which the ship would go?
Far, far ahead is all her seamen know.
And where the land she travels from? Away,
Far, far behind, is all that they can say.

ARGENTINES PRAY FOR ANGEL LUIS

He Has a Punch and If It Lands---Another Champ Will Wear Crown

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 7. — "Fight hard, spare no effort; your countrymen are watching and praying for you."

The above is a free translation of instructions received by Luis Firpo today via cable from Felix Bunge, the correspondence course trainer in Buenos Aires. Luis was at his wit's end before he received them. Now everything is all right. He must fight hard and spare no effort. That much is plain. He might have entertained other ideas on the subject but these will be discarded with all due haste. Felix has spoken. He will be obeyed.

Follows Own Ideas

When the challenger digested the contents of the message, he shrugged an eloquent shoulder and dismissed the matter forthwith. There was nothing else to do with it.

However much or little he may have appreciated Felix's good offices, Firpo is following his own ideas of conditioning and everyone is dissatisfied with them, with the possible exception of the gentleman himself. His self-esteem on the eve of his bout with Jack Dempsey is colossal.

It is not a matter of record that the rest of his training menage shares his confidence in the impending issue. One of his sparring partners whose identity is withheld for obvious reasons, had this to say today in connection with the fight:

Easy, Well, Maybe

"All that Dempsey needs to do is to keep shifting to his right and Firpo will never hit him. Luis places all his reliance in his right hand, but he cannot land it if Dempsey steps to the right and at the same time leads with a left hook.

"Firpo is wide open for this punch. I can land it on him at will, but my punch lacks the power necessary to stop his rushes and invariably he gets to me. A harder punch would bring him up short with a left hand.

"We have tried to get Luis to lead with his left and follow with his right in the orthodox manner, but he cannot seem to learn. He will lead with the left, then step back, set himself and let fly with the right. The case in a nutshell is that Firpo must depend on his old free swinging style. Against Dempsey, he will be like a hunter going after a fox with a cannon. He has the punch and he might land it.

Everyone is agreed that Firpo has been a fistic mountebank in his training bouts here. However, he may have something up his sleeve besides the hair on his elbow. He has been indulging in secret morning workouts in the garage near his Chelsea cottage and merely buffoons in the afternoon for the benefit of the innocents, it is said. In short, he will be mysterious to the end.

LONG DRIVE BEST STROKE IN GOLF,

Player Gets Thrill Watching Ball Take Flight Over Long Fairway

Perhaps no stroke in golf gives the player more satisfaction than a long, straight drive. Not that this is the most valuable stroke in attaining a low score—for a long tee shot merely means a shorter iron shot—but there's a thrill a golfer gets out of seeing his drive go whistling down the fairway, straight and true.

Muscle has less to do with the long drive than most golfers Little men often outdrive a huskier opponent by many yards.

Bobby Jones did this when paired with Walter Hagen in the open at Inwood. Hagen is a much bigger man than Bobby. Fact is few can match Bobby's average distance from the tee.

Charley Hall of Birmingham is a short, stocky fellow, but he probably drives the longest ball of any golfer. He claims an average of 275 yards and often sends the pellet 330 times the length of a yard stick down the course.

That's driving.

Getting down to the technical end, the reason for a long drive remains quite a mystery. We can eliminate every motion except that moment when the club head strikes and imparts its energy to the ball. There is a certain amount of resiliency in a wooden club head and the same, to a greater degree, in a golf ball, and the more compression of ball and club head the greater the distance attained. Yet a player may hit a ball a terrific rap and not get the distance a lighter, snappy stroke gives him.

This can be explained in only one way.

If the velocity of the club head and the compression of the ball are the all-important things that get distance in the drive, and if when they part company neither the follow-through nor any other phase of form will add one inch more to your drive, there must be some miracle performed at the instant when ball and club head meet.

At that moment the velocity of the ball as it leaves the club head is contingent upon the amount of its compression. The longer the period of adhesion of club and ball, the greater the compression and resultant distance. The problem, therefore, is to prolong adhesion to the maximum extent.

This can be accomplished in only one way—the club head, after the initial contact with the ball, must still be in process of acceleration at a sufficient ratio to overcome the expanding force of the ball inherent in the ball, and thus prolong compression.

In other words, after your club hits the ball have something in reserve, whether it is a wrist, body or arm motion—some force that will increase the ratio of acceleration in the velocity of your club to prolong adhesion with the ball.

It seems to us that the wrist has the only force that is practicable to employ for this finishing effort.

It is this reserve force snapped into the drive at the psychological moment that gives a small man the advantage when he outdrives his huskier opponent.

Many pros can demonstrate a drive, but few can impart this trick to the pupil. He has himself, perhaps, attained the knack of putting the snap into the wrists that gives the extra force at the instant of adhesion of club and ball, and is not even aware of the fact.

Try and get that left wrist into play at the instant your club meets the ball, and see if you don't increase the distance of your drives with every club in your bag.

JACK BUYS N. Y. HOME

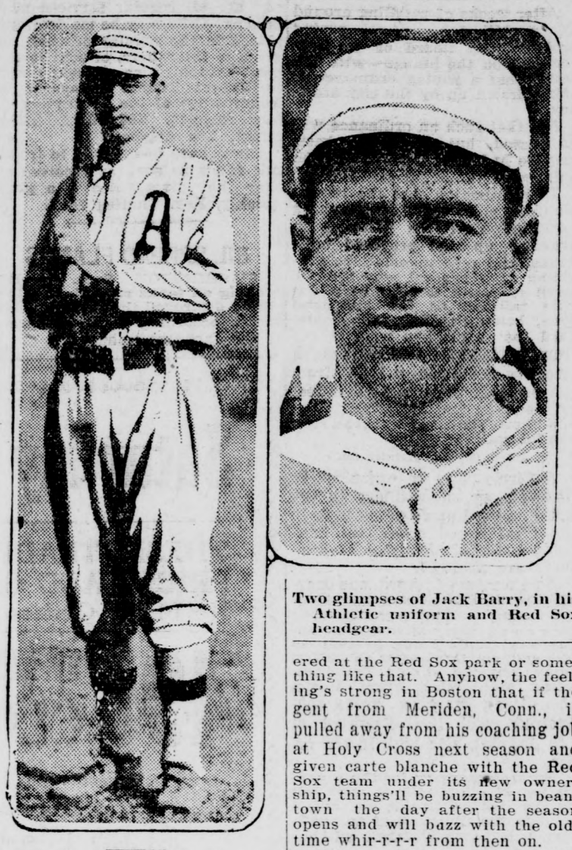
GARDEN CITY, N. Y., Sept. 7. —Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, has purchased a $65,000 residence here, it was learned late Thursday. It is understood Dempsey will move into his new home following his forthcoming fight with Luis Firpo.

Hoyle, the authority on cards, died in Cavendish Square, London, August 29, 1769, at the age of 97.

Boston Sees Coupla Pennants As Barry's Return Rumored



Two glimpses of Jack Barry, in his Athletic uniform and Red Sox headgear.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The coming presidential campaign,

The fate of the League of Nations,

The outcome of the Battle of the Giants

And what the governor of North Carolina said to the chief exec. of South Carolina—

None of these matters is worrying the residents of old Boston town.

You can't even kid them about how a cow laid out their streets.

And the reason is that Jack Barry, baseball idol of bygone days, may return to the game and the Red Sox team as manager next year.

Of course, not until next year. But what's a matter of a few months? Not any more than a week of stormy weather to a bootlegger waiting for a rum fleet to shove in off the Jersey coast.

And the beantown fans may well rejoice at this rumor.

For Barry is still remembered as the greatest money player in baseball. Pennants literally dragged at his heels. His presence on a team seemed to make a runaway race of the season.

Jack had been a member of Connie Mack's famous old $100,000 infield less than two years when he decided to make winning pennants his specialty. He tipped off McInnis, Collins and Baker, and the four went at it.

You'll recall the Athletics collected the gravy that year and in 1911, rested in 1912, and then collected in 1913 and 1914.

Enough for Mackmen

The picking was so easy that Mack broke up the combination after the '14 campaign. Of course, that four-straight walloping handed the White Elephants by the Braves had something to do with Connie's decision.

Anyhow, Jack Barry was sold to the Red Sox, divining rod and all. His first year with the Red Sox Jack helped them grab the bunting, and the next year it was the same old story. The Red Sox made sure that Barry was in uniform when the season opened and then had their world's series tickets printed.

Six world's series in a span of seven seasons!

And he would have been in a seventh classic had not the World War interfered. Barry enlisted in the navy. So he wasn't on deck when the Red Sox turned the trick in 1918.

Maybe his mail was still delivered at the Red Sox park or something like that. Anyhow, the feeling's strong in Boston that if the gent from Meriden, Conn., is pulled away from his coaching job at Holy Cross next season and given carte blanche with the Red Sox team under its new ownership, things'll be buzzing in beantown the day after the season opens and will bazz with the old-time whir-r-r-r from then on.

If hoping'll do anything Jack'll be there.

TAGGING ALL BASES

The Giants found the Phillies easy and winning 5 to 1, increased their advantage over the Reds to 4½ games. Cincinnati was idle in St. Louis owing to rain.

King Alexander was a king in name only when he faced the Pirates and the Buccaneers chased him from the mound, winning 5 to 1. The game was cut short in the fifth by rain.

The Athletics won the first clash to keep out of the cellar, downing the Red Sox, 6 to 2.

JACK PLANS FOR FIRPO KNOCKOUT

Dempsey Practises Slugging To Meet Argentine's Jaw With Crash

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The famous shift which made Jack Dempsey a world champion and which he discarded a brace of years ago so that he might become a nice, refined boxer, is visibly present again.

For the first time since he trained for Georges Carpentier, the champion has been employing that baffling ring trick. His success with it during the past two days proves that he hasn't lost the knack.

Plans Rough Stuff

Against Farmer Lodge he faked a left, then faked a right, faked another left and then landed with his right, going through the whole ceremony so quickly that the eye hardly could follow his movements.

The very fact that Dempsey is resorting again to the shift seems to be a "tip off" that when he tackles Luis Firpo he will toss all his boxing skill to the four winds and do what he used to do in the days before he decided to achieve scientific greatness. Without a doubt he will step right into Firpo and make it a slugging match with the tap of the first gong.

In one way or another, Dempsey in his training here, is unconsciously tipping off his battle plans. One thing is cartain, and that is when the first gong rings, Jack Dempsey will race into Luis Firpo with all the speed that he has, try for a left hook to the chin and, if he lands, will attempt to beat Firpo into a state of coma even before the Argentine battler can recover from the shock of the first punch.

Hurls Self Into Fight

Dempsey in these days here has exhibited condition infinitely beyond anything exhibited in Montana. There he was performing in eccentric fashion. But during the past few days here he has been coming out from under cover and fairly hurling himself at his foemen, fighting with everything he has—fighting with the savagery and the instinctability which made him world famous.

Dempsey has been doing little else during this week than swing left hooks. Apparently that will be his main method of attack against Firpo and he is achieving marksmanship with it.

THE FANNING BEE HIVE

THE LAST CHAPTER

In a ring tragedy

Was writen the other night when Luis Firpo knocked out Charley Weinert of Newark in a couple of rounds.

Weinert was the main figure in the tragedy.

Here is a man, blessed by nature with the perfect physique for a heavyweight champion, the fighting heart needed to carry such a body through hell and beyond and a fair brain to produce the cunningness and ring generalship to boot.

And he got—NOWHERE.

He wrote his own history—and made the tragedy of it.

Weinert is now twenty-eight. He was born October 22, 1895, in Budapest. He came to America with his parents when a youngster and settled in Newark, N. J. He began his fighting career in 1913 with the most roseate chances a man ever possessed.

He was built like a Greek god. He had acquired considerable boxing skill before he entered the pro ranks. And, ye gods! how he could hit! He was only eighteen then.

That was his undoing. The world lay before him and he took the wrong road. Training bored him. The white lights called. He was popular and let it go to his head.

Within a couple of years he stopped still on the road—just when he should have been taking his biggest strides. Then he found the going tough. Next came defeats. Then he drifted entirely out of the game. Money called him back the other night against Firpo. He went in as a setup.

Had he handled himself properly ten years ago Firpo might have been facing CHAMPION CHARLEY WEINERT.

What greater tragedy can be written?

EAGLE ROCK

REV. MIDDLEMASS TAKES PASTORATE

Comes From Spokane, To Eagle Rock Congregation Of Presbyterians

Dr. William S. Middlemass, new pastor of the Presbyterian church of Eagle Rock, who succeeds Rev. B. B. Weatherall, resigned on account of ill health, comes to this community from the Knox Presbyterian church of Spokane, Wash.

He was selected by a specially appointed committee after months of careful survey of available ministers, and arrived here recently by automobile, with his wife and son, William S. Middlemass, Jr.

Last Sunday, for the first time, he occupied the pulpit of the local Presbyterian church, delivering a forceful address of welcome to a large congregation.

Dr. Middlemass was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, and after a preparatory education studied at Edinburgh University and finished his ecclesiastical preparation at Bunoon college, near Glasgow.

Learned Printing Trade

During his school days in Scotland he served a seven years' apprenticeship in a print shop, becoming foreman of the shop at the end.

Arriving in America at the age of twenty, he studied further for the ministry at Hartford Theological seminary. Returning to the old country, for six months he was pastor of a suburban church at Manchester, England.

When next Dr. Middlemass came to America, it was via Saskatchewan, Canada, where he remained two years. From Saskatchewan he went to Minnesota, and after a few years in the Presbyterian pulpit there, came to Spokane, where he has since occupied the pulpit of the Knox Presbyterian church, severing his connection to come to Eagle Rock, where his delightful Scotch brogue inspires his new congregation.

Cooked Food Sale

TUJUNGA

WIFE MUST PAY SPOUSE ALIMONY

Judge Summerfield Awards Charles E. Scranton Small Allowance

Judge J. W. Summerfield of the superior court, Los Angeles, believes in equal rights for women. He made this known emphatically when he ordered Mrs. Mary F. Scranton to pay her sick husband alimony, pending the husband's suit for separate maintenance. Charles E. Scranton is the husband. Both live in Tujunga. According to the suit filed several weeks ago, Scranton has been an invalid for more than a year.

When the case came up before Judge Summerfield later he ordered the wife to pay Scranton $5 per week pending the outcome of the suit.

In giving his order Judge Summerfield said: "Marriage is a fifty-fifty proposition. This couple married for better or for worse The husband has broken down in the harness. I am afraid that the wife will have to pull a double load, for a while, at least. Marriage is a case of give and take."

This decision is the second given in the history of Los Angeles courts in favor of a husband. Judge Clock gave the first order for reverse alimony, when he ordered a young wife to pay her aged and infirm husband alimony after she had ordered him from their home.

Art Studio Opens

The opening of the Artists' and Authors' association studio Sunday, September 2, was a grand success, according to the founder, Laura Lee Sweet, who built the clubhouse at Michigan avenue and Hillhaven road.

A reception was given to the public in the evening and a large crowd of art lovers were present for the presentation of a valuable painting that was given away at 10 o'clock, "Sycamores of Hillhaven," painted by Mrs. Sweet.

The studio, which has been rushed to completion, was beautifully decorated, and many floral pieces from friends and well wishers added to the bright colors of the oil paintings.

The club will be known as the Artists' and Authors' Guild of Tujunga Valley, and will start with a list of 125 charter members. The first meeting will be held at the studio on September 15, at which time plans will be made to entertain the Glendale Art association at a moonlight picnic.

Exhibits By Local Artists

Exhibits were by local artists and included paintings, photography, clay modeling, pottery, pen-work, brass and ornamental wrought ironwork, china painting and needlework. An antique Italian vase and a Paul Revere lantern were of much interest to visitors.

Paintings exhibited were as follows: "Maine Moose," by Mrs. Bertha Bragg; "Pansies," by Mrs. Diana Hurley; "Sunset," by Mrs. George Buttery; "Still Life," by Mrs. Genevieve Adams; "Trees at Big Bear," by Mrs. Kelley Wells; "Moonlight," by Mrs. Wanda Trickey; "The Little Grey House in the Hollow," by Laura Lee Sweet; "In the Canyon," by Miss Anna Hong; "Water Colors," by Miss Alice Mooks; "Portraits and Still Life," by Miss Kraft; "Trees in Big Bear," by Mr. Kelly; "Morning on Mt. Wilson," by Mr. Shinn; "Tujunga Wash," by Karl Krauth; "Tujunga Canyon," by Perry McNeely; "Ships at Sea," by Mr. Tossi; "Water Colors," by Miss Williams.

Photography: Exhibit by Mr. Lamson, of Lamson's Studio, Tujunga.

Pen drawings by Mrs. D. Adamas.

Brass work: Exhibit by Mrs. Lawrence Silver.

Ornamental wrought iron: By Mr. Pinson, lantern chandelier and andirons; by Mr. Huntington, lamps and andirons.

China painting: Exhibit by Mrs. Sells.

Fancy needlework by Mrs. Sells and Mrs. Linquist.

Other paintings on exhibit were: "The Path in the Woods," by Mrs. Genevieve Adams; paintings of Venice, Belgium, Germany and England, by Mr. LeBrun.

Antiques on exhibit were an Italian vase and a Paul Revere lantern and a lamp, loaned by Mrs. E. T. Theobald.

Mrs. Powell Wins

The painting given away at the studio reception was won by Mrs. Martha Powell of Tujunga.

Mrs. Sweet is elated over the interest shown in the club, and is confident that Tujunga will soon take its place with other Southern California art colonies. This club will be operated on the same general plan as that adopted by the Glendale Art association.

P. McNeeley, formerly of 561 West Barclay drive, and now connected with Exposition park in the art museum, will be affiliated with the guild as a member. He is an accomplished artist and is now doing some work for the state, making his home in Alhambra.

Some of his paintings were exhibited, and one offered for sale was quickly taken.

Mrs. L. W. Baker of Tujunga has been awarded one of six prizes offered for recipes. The contest was conducted by a household economic expert of Los Angeles. Prizes were awarded for merit of balance in the foods selected.

First tragedy was performed by Thespis at Athens, according to tradition, about 550 B. C.

City Planning Commission's Recommendations Get Consideration

After weeks of paddling around in the chill waters of the zoning problem, the Board of Trustees finally took the plunge—with the result that a zoning ordinance is being drawn up by the city attorney.

Not that such an ordinance will be passed, but that some basis may be had for threshing out the balance of the argument!

It is intimated that the recommendations of the City Planning Commission will be followed in drawing up the proposed ordinance, said recommendations providing in a general way for the territory along the Southern Pacific railroad as the industrial zone; below San Fernando boulevard as a chicken ranch zone; from the industrial zone to Fourth street as the business zone; from the business zone to Sixth street as the court and apartment zone, and above Sixth street as the residential zone.

Plan Druid Auxiliary

A Circle is to be organized in Burbank, as an auxiliary to the Grove, according to those high in the local Druid order, the idea being to bring the state convention here in 1925.

As a matter of record, one dropping in on the session last Monday night would have thought such an auxiliary already well under way, there being present no less eminent Druidesses than Mrs. Dolly Bowman of San Francisco, grand arch; Mrs. Ethel Moyle, also of San Francisco, grand conductress, and Mrs. Brainard of Los Angeles, also high in the order.

Papers necessary for the organization of a local Circle were left by the visiting Druidesses, and a start in the direction of an auxiliary will be undertaken without delay.

Hits Fifty! No Fine!

When a motor vehicle proceeds through Burbank at fifty miles per hour or better and gets by without levy, after being haled to Judge Crawford's "speeders' court," the story deserves headlines in the New York papers.

And as for originality, here is an explanation that would win first money in any contest: Russell Copeland, deponent, when asked by the judge to "tell the court" why he was in such a hurry, salaamed and said he was trying to pass a "road pest" who refused either to move along at a reasonable rate or let himself be passed.

Copeland, being several hours overdue at his destination, finally gave the accelerator a vicious jab —and sailed blithely by. But, lo! what was that ominous put-put-put just behind? With sinking heart Copeland saw a Burbank speed cop, smartly uniformed from the spoils of many such overhauls, draw up on his port helm.

As Judge Crawford listened to this story, his hand was observed to go to his mouth, and by this subterfuge he was able to maintain a grave and forbidding countenance. Consequently, when he let Copeland off with a suspended sentence the shock was delicious.

The "road pest" was also haled into court, but chose to absent himself from the above proceedings. The result is that he is in contempt of court and will doubtless pay Copeland's fine, and one of his own in addition, when the judge finally locates him.

Taxicab and Transfer Service Is Organized

Service for travelers is the keynote of the S. P. Taxi & Transfer Company, that has been established by D. McConnell at 115 West Broadway. Mr. McConnell has made a contract with the Southern Pacific to handle the taxicab and baggage service at the Glendale station, the contract going into effect on September 11.

One department of the service that the company is prepared to render is to secure tickets for those who intend to travel, check the baggage on the tickets, and deliver the passenger himself at the depot in plenty of time for his train, saving him endless worry over the purchase of his transportation and the checking of his baggage.

Chess matches have long been common, M. F. A. Danikin, who died in 1795, being known to play three matches blindfolded at the Salopian, London.

Presbyterians to Aid In Japanese Relief

An appeal has been sent out to each Presbyterian pastor in the state of California suggesting that all Presbyterian churches receive funds for the relief of Japanese sufferers. Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church; stated this morning that the local church is receiving these funds and will cooperate in any way possible for the relief of the sufferers in the far east.

There will be no special offering, but the needs will be presented at all regular services next Sunday. Gifts may be marked and placed in the regular offering, or given to the ushers, or sent to the local church office, or sent direct to Robert Young, Treasurer of Benevolence of the Presbytery of Los Angeles, 313 West Third street, Los Angeles.

Plans have been made to transmit funds as soon as received so that he gives twice who gives quickly, Rev. Tinning adds.
